DR. J. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nausea, Constipation Flatulency, Loss of Appetite or any Bilious Complaints arising from a morbid inaction of the Stomach or Bowels producing Cramps Dysentery, Colic, Cholera Morbus, &c. &c

All of these ills yield like magic toits vivifying influence upon the system, and for a person in advanced years, or recovering from sickness of any kind, nothing can be more conducive to their convalescence than the use of these Bitters as per directions on the bottles.

Scarcely four years have elapsed since the first introduction of "Dr. J Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters" to the public, and such has been the success of this article after its tested efficacy by a discriminating public, that during the last year nearly half a million bottles were sold, with a continuous demand in excess of the supply with all the facilities the proprietors have been able to command in its preparation.

Are you dyspeptic? Then take these Stomach Bitters

Are you bilious? Try one bottle of these Bitters, and be relieved at once.

Are you annoyed by indigestion or constipation? Remove the cause by the free use of these Bitters.

Have you fever and ague? How many thousands in the West and South have been cured of this constitution destroying disease by the free use of these Bitters!

All should try this great Antidote We venture to affirm that, when Hostetters's Stomach Bitters are used, a case of Fever and Ague cannot occur: therefore, no family consulting their own interest can afford to do without it.

A WORD TO THE LADIES

In recommending to your use Dr J Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters, it is but just to state that as a simulant to the system, in imparting strength and vigor, preparatory to periodical stages, which are of times attended with much pain and trouble, we know of no preparation more happily adapted to all afflictions consequent upon this cause, and for cramps in stomach, cholera morbus, and all ailments arising from over indulgence in fruits, vegetables, ice creams, &c, it is certain and always instantaneous remedy, and no family should be without it.

One wineglassful taken three times each before meals, at half the quantity to the patients are in a weak condition, and increased in proportion to their strength, will be found a great tonic agent, which all will appreciate when personally satisfied of the facts, as they will be by giving the Bitters one trial.

☞CAUTION.☜

Carefulness should be our study, but more particularly when the health is at stake. Since these Bitters have, from their medical qualities, become so popular, there have been a great many concoctions called Stomach Bitters, and often represented to be the same in virtue as Dr. Hostetter's, palmed upon the public. Be careful of these villainous compounds! Our Bitters are put up in square quart bottles, and covered with the patent metallic cap, stamped "Hostetter's Stomach Bitters," and Dr. J Hostetter blown on the glass. All others are imitation.

The Cemetery Once More.

This subject, about which there was so much said and written a few week ago, appears to have lost all its interest, as is too frequently the case hereabouts, and for which our people are somewhat celebrated when any new and exciting subject is introduced. This, in the present instance especially, is very much to be regretted, and it is hoped will only be temporary. Surely our citizens are no less conscious now than they were a month or two ago of the certainty of death, and the uncertainty of having a safe, quiet, and suitable resting place for themselves and friends. The present temporary burial ground, it is conceded upon all hands, must soon be abandoned; so that if there was no other desire to make a change, necessity would soon leave no alternative.

I have listened to what has been said and written on the subject of the importance of a cemetery, and with reference to the several points that have been named as suitable locations. For myself, I would have been content with any location that a majority of those who were willing to invest their means in so laudable a work would have selected; yet I could but feel that by far the most desirable place was entirely overlooked. And now, since the other places, on account of the numerous objections raised to them, are nearly if not quite abandoned, I will venture to suggest the place. It is the property lying east of the Lutheran Seminary and burying ground, and is owned by Horace B Taylor and others

The surface of this ground is undulating, which with its other advantages renders it susceptible of the highest rural embellishment. The soil is loam, clay, and sand, with gravel subsoil in portions of it, and all easily underdrained, which all cemetery grounds, no matter what the soil, must be. It is of easy access, being but a few rods from the limits of the city; yet the location is quiet and retired; there are no rail roads, rivers or canals to cross in its approach, as is the case with all the other points named, and which to many, if not to all, is an almost insurmountable objection. A small portion of the public road leading to it, during a short period in the spring and fall, has been usually muddy and otherwise bad, but by recent improvements in gravelling, &c. is now one of the finest thoroughfares in the country; if the improvements are continued for a year or two, which I understand is the intention, under the direction of the present efficient superintendent, John Burt, it will be equal to any McAdamized road to be found anywhere.

I will now leave the subject to the consideration of those who have been so zealous in this good work, confidently trusting that whilst the advantages of the grounds suggested will commend themselves to their attention, their philanthropic efforts will secure this or some other desirable ground, as a suitable resting place for the departed dead.

Before closing however, allow me to call the attention of the readers of the Sentinel to the following excellent article just published in the "Country Gentleman," as eminently appropriate here at the present time. N.

The Planting of Rual Cemeteries.

We venture to make a few suggestions, first, in reference to planting the grounds at large, and secondly, in respect to individual lots.

It is assumed in the very title of our subject that cemeteries are to be planted. They are not to be felt naked and desolate, as were most of the old fashioned burrying yards, exposed to beating storms and burning suns. They are to have the guardianship and companionship of trees, the grace and attraction which they lend to places which might otherwise be uninteresting, if not repulsive. One may well question the suitableness of some kinds of embellishments occasionally seen in cemeteries, but no one can doubt the appropriateness of trees. The historical argument favors such planting. In providing a burial place for himself and his descendants, Abraham desired not only "the cave" and "the field" in Machpelah, but also "all the trees that were in the field and in all the borders round about." The Israelites loved to bury their dead under the shadow of oak trees. The Jews often used their gardens for family cemeteries. The Turks bury in groves of cypress.

And if cemeteries are to be planted, how it is to be done? Is there anything in the character of the place to determine the style of our planting? Yes there is. Cemeteries should inspire feelings of solemnity, reverence and tender respect for the memory of the dead; it should remind us of our own mortality and that of our friends. It the same time, with the light of Revelation around us, our feelings should not be those of despair, but of humble resignation, of unwavering trust and cheerful hope. From these considerations, we conclude that a cemetry should be a pleasant, cultivated scene, but one without the usual embellishments of a public park, or the highly dressed grounds of a private residence. We do not wish to inter our friends in a wild forest, nor should our planting aim to represent such a scene. The gay parterres, the surprises and other fanciful conceits of pleasure grounds, would also be out of harmony with the true spirit of a burial place. The grounds should be substantially enclosed with fences or hedges and belts of trees, to give them an air of security and seclusion; they should be intersected with roads and walks, and planted with trees and shrubs, to give them a civilized air, and a human interest; and a subdued cheerfulness, and to make them appear to be a suitable resting place and home for the dead.

In planting a cemetry, special reference should be had to economizing space for interments. Trees must not be scattered indiscriminately over the grounds, or arranged solely with an eye to their effect. They must be planted only along the outskirts of the cemetry, at the angles of the roads and the lots, and on the margins of the avenues, and in any other open spaces left for this purpose.

A cemetery should be planted with evergreens more largely than ornamental grounds commonly are. There is an inherent fitness in their use, and the practice of ages has given them a double suitableness. Of these trees, there is a greater variety than is commonly supposed. Beside the ever present Balsam fir, there are seven or eight sorts of hardy pines, several of spruce, of arbor vitæ and of juniper, the red cedar Savin, hemlock and others.

A cemetery should be planted with drooping trees, to some extent. This should be done, not to give the place a dolorous aspect, but as expressive of tender recollection for the departed, and to mark the spot as distinct and set apart from other grounds. Of such trees, the very best is the native white elm. The common weeping willow is also appropriate, and should be planted wherever it is hardy. The class of trees technically called "weeping trees," should be introduced in limited number. The common European weeping ash, the birch and linden, and several of the elm family are among the best

In the planting of private lots, several things should be considered:

1. The best possible embellishment is a smooth carpet of fine grass. To secure this, the ground should be trenched and manured, unless the soil is naturally deep and rich, and then sowed with grass seed and white clover, or sodded with clean turf from the roadside. It should also be mowed frequently during the summer.

2. Few, if any, trees should be planted in a lot, and these should be small. A cemetery lot is designed for interments, and nothing should be planted to interfere with that design. [Sometimes a half dozen maples or horse chestnutts are set in a single small lot, which must in a few years fill the ground with a net work of large roots, shade the monuments injuriously, and prevent the growth of the grass and the hedge. If trees must be planted, we should recommend one or two of medium size, like the mountain ash, dog wood, Red bud. Virgilea lutea, striped bark maple, copper beech.

3 Some lots might be planted with one or more small weeping trees: such as the Amelanchier, the new American weeping willow, the larch and Japan sophora.

4. G lot is not complete without evergreens; but these also should be few and small. Perhaps the greatest prevalent fault in planting cemeteries is the use of too many evergreens, and those which grow to a large size. We often see six where two would be enough. And then, those of large spreading habit are as frequently used as the smaller. Pines, Norway Spruces and Balsams, look very well when first set out, but they won't stay small: in a few years their branches completely cover the lot and its monuments, stretch far across the hedges and out into the walk and roads. The result of all this is that the trustees of the Association have to interfere, and cause those trees to be removed. Such trees are utterly unfit for lots, and should be planted only in the large, open spaces before mentioned. Among small evergreens, or those, which can easily be kept small, we mention the hemlock, Siberian Arbor Vitæ, Savin, American and Swedish junipers. American Yew, Mahonia and American holly.

5. Shrubs are a better adornment of lots than trees. Those of neat habit, of dark foliage, and which hold their leaves fresh throughout the season, are to be preferred. Among these are several varieties of the Euonymus especially the European and the broad leaved, the upright honeysuckles, the Deutzias, Spireas, roses, particularly the white.

6. Flowers shold not be omitted. A few daisies violets, the pyrethrum, blue and white verbenas—what can be better?

7 If a lot is to be enclosed with a hedge—and certainly this is preferable to high, stiff palisades of iron—the hemlock may be trained into a neat shape, the juniper is sometimes recommended, and the native privet answers an excellent purpose. Whatever plant is used, it should be kept low by pruning twice a year.

A. D. G.

☞From a private letter dated Mora, New Mexico, October 3d, 1857, we take the following extract:

Gentlemen: We have just concluded one of the most exciting elections that ever happened in this Territory, and after a severe struggle, have elected our Territorial Democratic candidates. Mr Otero as delegate by a majority of near three thousand votes. It is very evident our Mexican population is becoming more Americanized, and already begin to feel more and more the value of a vote Every election is more exciting, and the interest shown by all classes on the return of an election day is manifestly increasing in strength. The peon or slave to indebtedness already knows that his master has no right to claim his vote and the freedom of the ballot box has become fully established in the minds of the people. This alone is a very great victory gained. In the late canvas Mr Otero exhibited great energy in proving to these people that they are now living under a constitution which secures to them "Liberty, inalienable rights, and the pursuit of happiness."

The Gila expedition against the Southern Apaches has returned, and has done much credit to all concerned. The campaign was a difficult and an arduous one, and much honer is due to the officers and men for the faithful service they have rendered.

On account of the enmity of the Cheyennes, an escort of twenty five men accompanies this mail to the crossing of the Arkansas. A great many passengers go in—Mr Otero and wife, ex Secretary Davis and wife, Mrs Davenport, and many others.

Speculators and Copitalists.—This bit will fit other latitudes than that of Paris—a 'good thing' of a Parisian gamin (urchin, loafer boy.) it is lively, energetic, characteristic, and was effective.

Two gentlemen were chatting on the Boulevard. One was a great speculator, developing the plan of a magnificent project, the other a dazzled capitalist, ready to snap at the bait.—He hesitated a little, but was just yielding, merely making a few objections for conscience's sake

Near these two, paused a couple of youngsters of ten or twelve years. They were looking into a tobacco shop close by, and one cries out to the other:

"By the piper! I'd like to smoke a sou's worth of tobacco!"

"Well," said the other, "buy a sou's worth."

"Ah! as luck will have it, I haven't the sou"

"Hold on! I've got two sous."

"That's the ticket! just the thing—one for the pipe and one for the tobacco"

"Oh, yes! But what am I to do?"

"You? Oh! you shall be the stockholder; you can spit!"

It was a flash of light. The capitalist thrust his hands into his pockets and fled. The speculator cast a furious look at the two urchins and turned down the street.

Shorten Your Skirts.—Empress Eugenie has lately permitted her ankles to be seen without gathering up her skirts, and it is high time, therefore, that American women, who adopted every thing Frenchy, should take a tuck in their skirts. A correspondent of the New York Post who saw the Empress at a grand review by Napoleon of his camp at Chalons, lately, says:

On the day of my visit to the camp, the Emperor, accompanied by the Empress on horseback, and a numerous staff of marshals and general officers, exercised eighteen thousand men for some hours. The presence of the Empress gave more interest to many present than the movements of the troops. After she had returned and alighted at the imperial headquarters, she reappeared amidst the shouts of the multitude, without her riding dress and I would venture to commend to our American women the shortness of her skirts, which permitted to be seen a beautiful pair of ankles—a pleasant episode in a military review.

The Empress of the Indies.—The rumor which is being propagated by the press, that Queen Victoria is about proclaiming herself "Empress of India," is a topic of considerable interest. Such an event is not at all improbable, if it be true that her Majesty is anxious to change her Royal into an Imperial diadem, and still less so when we consider the fact that the government of the East India Company, has, to a certain extent proved a failure. That law which invested the Company with power can also annul that power. In 1733, the charter of the East India Company was not removed, but an Act was passed, continuing to the Company all its possessions, revenues, and merchandize, in trust for the Crown of Great Britain and Ireland until the year 1854 In 1853, Parliament again passed an Act, continuing the possessions of the Company in trust for the Crown until Parliament shall otherwise order.

The actuall bearing of this is—that, on paying £200 for every £100 of the Company's capital stock, the British Parliament can transfer from the Company to the Crown nearly the whole peninsula of Hindostan, and make British India an integral part of the British Empire.

Honduras Interoceanic Canal—The New Herald has advices from Honduras to Oct. 7th The surveying corps of the projected Interoceanic Railroad, had reached Comoyagua, a point midway between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. The survey had thus far proved satisfactory, and the party of Engineers were in good health and capital spirits.

At Omoa the authorities were warlike, and were making preparations to repel an apprehended attack from Walker's filibusters, and a British vessel of war was daily expected to arrive to aid in the defence of the town.

HOW THEY TALK IN UTAH.

A Sermon Delivered at Salt Lake City

Since the Kansas question is virtually settled, the next subject of engrossing interest is Utah.

How the Mormons relish the appointment of Gov Cumming, and the expedition which is to put him in power may be learned from the following extracts from a sermon delivered to the faithful, at Salt Lake City, and reported at full length in the Mormon paper.

From the Desert News Sept. 9th.

Discourse by Pres't Heber C. Kimball, Bowery, Sunday Morning, Aug 30. 1857.

You must expect when you see Brother Heber stand before you to speak, that you will hear what is called the rough atchel to this generation.

* * * * * * *

I want to tell some of my feelings here to day, in a few words relative to brother Brigham. I call him brother. I shall only call him President before the Saints, in his calling. I was going to say before our enemies, but damn them, they shall never come here

Excuse me, I never use rough words, only when I come in contact with such rough things.

You all acknowledge brother Young as the President of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints; then you acknowledge him as our Leader, Prophet, Seer and Revelator, and then you acknowledge him in every capacity that pertains to his calling both in Church and State do you not. [Voices: "Yes,"]

Well, he is our Governor What is a Governor? One who presides, or governs. Well, now we have declared in a legislative capacity that we will not have poor, rotten-hearted cusses come rule over us such as they have been accustomed to send. We drafted a memorial and the Council and the House of Representatives, endorsed it and sent to the names of men of our choice, as many as from five to eight men for each office, men from our own midst, out of whom to appoint officers for this Territory.

We sent that number for the President of the United States to make a selection from, and asked him to give us men of our own choice, in accordance with the rights constitutionally guaranteed to American citizens.

We just told them right up and down, that if they sent any more such miserable cusses as some they had sent here, we would send them home, and that is one reason why an army or rather a mob, is on the way here as reported. You did not know the reason before, did you?

* * * * * * *

Now gentlemen and ladies, you look at these things, and then right in this book, the Bible; it says our nobles shall be of ourselves, that is, our Lords, our Governors, our Judges, our Marshalls, and our everything shall be of ourselves. Won't you read the 30th chapter of Jeremiah?

21. And their nobles shall be of themselves and their Governors shall proceed from the midst of them; and I will cause him to draw near, and he shall approach unto me; for who is this that engaged his heart to approach unto me? saith the Lord.

22. And ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

23. Behold, the whirland of the Lord goeth forth with fury, a continuing whirlwind: it shall fall with pain upon the head of the wicked.

24. The fierce anger of the Lord shall not return, until he have done it, and until he have performed the intents of his heart: in the latter day ye shall consider it.

Well, the day has come when our Governor comes out of our midst, and he is in the tops of the mountains, just where the prophets said these things should come to pass, and now the United States are reported to be trying to force a Governor upon us when the Lord has raised one up right in our midst

* * * * * * *

I will now bring up a comparison. I live in the city of Great Salt Lake. I am a father, a husband, a benefactor to between sixty and seventy subjects: I feed them; I clothe them; and they do not have a pin, a drink of tea, or any thing, but what I provide; I provide them houses to live in, and beds to sleep on. But suppose that by and by some stranger comes along, and my family say to him, "we will have you to preside over us," and they reject me, when at the same time they say, "Br Heber is a good man," but the other man comes with a smiling facee, and my family take him and reject me—what have they done? If they reject me, they reject their head; and by so doing, they destroy their heirship to the head or limb to which they are lawfully connected. Is not that so?

Suppose you acknowledge the man reported to be coming, what do you do? You reject your head; and it so, where is the body, and what will become of it?

* * * * * * *

If this people should consent to dispossess Br. Brigham Young as our Governor, they are just as sure to go to hell as they live, and I know it, for God would forsake them and leave them to themselves, and they would be in worse bondage than the children of Israel ever were.

Supposing this thing all blows over and they dont come up here, but they begin to flatter us and be friend y what will be the result? They may flatter as long as the earth stands, but I never will be subject to one or their damned pusilanimous cusses. The may court and flatter as much as they please, but I never will be subject to them again, no, never. Do you hear it? [Voices, "Yes,"] Do you think we will submit to them? No, never. They have cut the thread themselves

* * * * * * *

I have a right to say the gentiles shall never rule over me, although this people might admit of their coming here. I have a right to say also that we small never be ruled over by them from this day forth, while grass grows or water runs; never, no, never.

[Voices, "Amen."]

Well, we have got to sustain these amens and we have got to sustain these vows. You, ladies, too, will certainly have to do your part or back out. I told you last Sunday to arm yourselves, and if you cannot do it in any other way, sell some of your fine bonnets, fine dresses, and buy yourselves a good dirk, a pistol, or some other instrument of war.

Arm your boys and arm yourselves universally and that, too, with the weapons of war, for we may be brought to the test, to see if we will stand up to the line.

* * * *

We shall never leave these valleys——till we get ready; no, never, no, never. We will live here till we go back to Jackson county, Missouri. I prophecy that, in the name of Israel's God.

[The congregation flounted "Amen," and Pres B Young said, "it is true."]

If our enemies force us to destroy our orchards and our property, to destroy and lay waste our houses fields and everything else, we shall never build and plant again until we do it in Jackson county, But our enemies are not here yet, and we have not yet thrown down our houses.

Let me tell you that if God designs that Israel should now become free, they will come and strike the blow, and if he does not, they will not come. That is as true as that book (pointing to the Bible)

☞The Springfield (Illinois) Journal says: According to notice, the assignees' sale of the Great Western Railroad was made at auction yesterday in front of the Court House. Mr Wm. Cornenu, cashier of the road, was the nominal purchaser. The price at which it was struck off was only $1,100. What a farce, what a swindle! Thus our citizen, who in good faith took stock in the road and paid up the last instalment, now see all their stock wiped

Thanksgiving.—By the Proclamation in another column it will be seen that Gov Willard has appointed Thursday, the 26th November inst to be observed as a day of public thanksgiving in this state.

CEMETERY.—Though all are agreed that we ought to have a new cemetery, yet the interest felt at was felt in the matter a few weeks ago, appears to have entirely subsided, and we do not hear of any steps being now taken in the matter. We direct the attention of our citizens to a communication on the subject on our first page.

Refusal of the City Treasurer to pay Money to the Free School!—The question of the legality of the action of our City Council in making an appropriation towards the building of the Free School is likely soon to be settled judicially. The Council, this week, issued an order to the Treasurer to pay over $3.500 into the hands of the School Trustees. This he refused, on the ground of doubts as to the legality of the appropriation, unless he could be secured by an indemnifying bond from responsible citizens. The security was tendered, but the Treasurer still refused to pay over. In the meantime Mr M. Jenkinson asked out an injunction, restraining the Treasurer from paying over the money to the School Trustees; and the Council made application to have the injunction removed The case is now pending; it is a most important one, and its decision will settle the question of the power of the Council to aid the Schools by making appropriations from the general funds of the city.

However the question may be decided, we cannot approve the course of the Treasurer He has usurped an authority that we do not believe pertains to his office, and allowed himself to be used as a tool by the enemies of our School system. The money has been collected, and would be better paid out to the laborers and mechanics engaged in the erection of the School house, and who must be subjected to inconvenience and distress by its being witheld from them, than to remain in the hands of the Treasurer. His conscientious scruples in the matter are rather late in developing themselves:—if it is not lawful for him to pay over the money for the purpose for which it was levied, it certainly was not lawful for him to collect it; but we do not learn that he raised the slightest objection to the collection, although he now holds on to the money with such tenacity.

FOREIGN NEWS.—The Arabia arrived in New York yesterday. The most important item of intelligence is the capture of Delhi by the English. It was taken by assault, after six days hard fighting. The English loss was 600 men and 50 officers. Considerable reinforcements of British troops had arrived in Calcutta. Several failures had occurred in England and on the Continent, but the worst of the financial crisis is believed to be over.

The market for breadstuffs is reported dull, with a decline of 2s to 3s in flour, 4d to 6d in wheat, and 6d in corn.

New York City Election.—The result of the recent election in the city of New York is a glorious evidence of the progress of democratic principles, and a triumphant endorsement of the wise and patriotic course of Mr Buchanan and his cabinet. Here is the vote:

Democratic	36.903
Black Republican	13.812
American	8.062

Democratic majority over the Republicans over 23.000, and over both near 15.000. Last year Mr Buchanan's majority over all was but 4,000.

Maryland Election.—Complete returns from the State give Hicks, Plug Ugly, 8.567 majority over Groome, democrat—Hicks 44.764, Groome 36.190. Three democrats and three K N are elected to Congress—a democratic gain of one. The Senate contains 15 K Ns and 7 democrats; House, 14 K Ns and 29 democrats. Burton, democrat, is elected Judge of Court of Appeals in the 1st district.

The city of Baltimore, where Plug Ugly mob law reigns supreme, and democrats are not allowed to vote, elects two of the three K N members of Congress, and gives that party a heavier majority than they got in the whole state. If order could be maintained in that riotous city, and every man allowed to vote who is justly entitled to the right of suffrage, the vote of Maryland would be democratic.

New York Election.—The Albany Argus of Monday gives the Democratic majority as 13,135, a gain for Democrats since the Presidential election of 93,264! The Senate stands 14 Democrats, 15 Republicans, 1 Independent and 4 Americans. The Assembly 61 Democrats, 59 Republicans and 8 Americans.

WISCONSIN—The democratic majority for Governor in Wisconsin, is stated by the Milwaukie News to be 3000.

MINNESOTA—The St Paul Democrat claims the election of Henry H Sibley, dem. Governor, by a majority of from 300 to 400. The republicans had claimed the election of Ramsey; but by the latest and fullest returns it appears Sibley is the man. The whole democratic state ticket is elected, together with a majority in the Legislature of 3 in the Senate and 6 in the House.

Fort Wayne Western Railroad.—We are gratified in being able to state that, notwithstanding the pressure in financial matters, the work in Jasper Co on the western division of the Fort Wayne Western Railroad, is steadily progressing. By the end of this month twelve miles of the road will be completed ready for the iron, and what is better, the estimates for the work are all regularly paid up every month.

A company that can do this, at a time when the oldest and best established railroads are embarrassed for the want of means, cannot fail of success; and we look upon the early completion of the Fort Wayne Western Railroad as a fixed fact.

Another Change has been made in the time of the Pittsburgh, Ft Wayne, & Chic. R R. The trains now run as follows:

Express Train—Leaves Pittsburgh at 2:15 P M, Fort Wayne 5:35 A M; arrive at Chicago 1:00 P M. Returning, leaves Chicago at 6:00 A M, Fort Wayne 2:15 P M; arrives at Pittsburgh 6:00 A M.

Mail Train—Leaves Pittsburgh at 3:30 A M, Fort Wayne 7:50 P M; arrives at Chicago 8:30 A M. Returning, leaves Chicago at 8:45 P M, Fort Wayne 5:30 A M; arrives at Pittsburgh 8:50 P M.

Gen Walker off for Nicaragua.—Gen Walker slipped off from New Orleans on the 11th inst. with a band of 400 men, 1000 stand of arms, and a full supply of ammunition and provisions. His destination is Nicaragua.

Sorghum Molasses.—We are indebted to Mr. T M Andrews of Perry Township, for a bottle of rich thick syrup made by him from the juice of the Chinese Sugar Cane. It is of excellent quality and flavor, fully equal to the best sugar-house molasses or syrup. Mr A. feels satisfied that the cultivation of the cane and manufacture of molasses can be profitably carried on here, and purposes next year to go more extensively into the business.

He erected a mill for grinding and pressing the cane, consisting of three vertical wooden rollers, geared together, and worked by a horse attached to a sweep. With this mill he extracted 40 gallons juice per hour. The juice was boiled and clarified according to the method published in the Sentinel on the 17th of October last. Four pounds of stalks yielded 1 quart of juice, and 7 quarts of juice made 1 of thick syrup. The cane on a square rod of Mr Andrew's ground made 2 gallons of syrup.

We have strong reasons to hope, from the success which has attended the cultivation of the cane this season, that the time is not distant when Indiana will raise not only all the sugar and molasses required for home consumption, but also a considerable surplus for export.

Railroad Riot.—We hear that considerable disturbance occurred at Columbia two or three days ago, caused by a number of laborers employed on the Pitts, Ft W & Chic R R and whose wages were considerably in arrear. Their demand for payment not being complied with, they took forcible possession of the paymaster's car, and expressed a determination to hold it until their claims were paid. After some considerable difficulty, and a display of revolvers, knives, and other weapons, the rioters were finally driven off. We do not learn that any one was seriously injured in the melee.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.—A singular circumstance occurred on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne, & Chicago Railroad, on Tuesday night last. When the night train, coming west, was about 7 miles this side of Upper Sandusky, a little boy seven or eight years of age, who was with his parents on their way to the west, suddenly started up in his sleep, went out of the car, and either fell or jumped off—the train at the time being under full speed The mother soon after awoke and missed the boy, and on inquiry a passenger informed her he had seen him go out of the car, but being nearly asleep did not pay any attention. The agonized parents gave the alarm, and the train was backed as far as Upper Sandusky, but as no trace of the boy could be found, it was supposed he was killed and thrown off the track. The parents were left at Nevada to make further search, and in the course of an hour were gladdened by having their boy restored to them, alive and almost unhurt. He stated that the first thing he remembered he was laying on the track; he got up and walked towards Sandusky; when the train returned he felt alarmed and got off the track until they passed, and then resuming his walk, crossed the long and dangerous railroad bridge and reached Upper Sandusky. Mr Kelly immediately dispatched a hand car with the boy to Nevada, and restored him to his parents, who were in a state bordering on distraction at his supposed melancholy fate, and whose joy at his safe return may be more easily imagined than described. The only injury he received in his perilous adventure was a slight scratch and bruise on the forehead. It was truly a miraculous escape.

☞ The repairs on the Maumee Bridge are now completed, and teams can again cross it in safety. An entire new pier has been erected under the centre of the bridge, and, unlike most similar works here, it has been done in a thorough substantial manner. The crib is made of good sound oak, well and strongly framed together by Mr. W. Barger, and will be filled to high water mark with stone—forming a structure which must endure for many years. The work was done under the vigilant superintendence of F. D. Lasselle, one of our County Commissioners, who deserves great credit for making a good and durable job.

Stoves and Tinware.—Nettlehorst & Co. have on hand a large and excellent assortment of stoves of all kinds and patterns, from the best foundries in the country, which they sell at the lowest rates. They also keep on hand and make to order every thing in the tin, sheet iron, and copper line. They are prompt, liberal, and accommodating in all their dealings, and richly deserve a liberal share of public patronage.

☞ We direct the attention of our female readers to the advertisement for Le Bon Ton Journal, which is perhaps the best and only reliable journal of fashions in the country. Each number is embellished with two or more exquisitely engraved and colored fashion plates, got up in Paris, expressly for this work; two patterns cut on tissue paper accompany each number. Published by S. T. Taylor, 407 Broadway, N. York. Terms—monthly, $5 00 per annum; bi-monthly $3 00; single numbers 25 cents.

Amateur Performance.—The Fort Wayne Dramatic Amateurs, assisted by Charley Reynolds and his talented lady, will give a theatrical performance at Colerick's Hall on Tuesday evening next, on which occasion Shakspeare's celebrated tragedy of Othello will be presented. The dramatic talent of the young gentleman who takes the arduous character of Othello is highly spoken of.

Drawing School.—Mr A Sutermeister proposes opening a Drawing School in this city as soon as a sufficient number of pupils can be obtained. We are informed that he is quite an artist, and well qualified to give instructions in all branches of this useful and ornamental acquirement

Our European Correspondence.

HEIDLBERG, on the Necker, in Baden,
October 19, 1857,

MR. TIGAR,

Dear Sir,—I wrote you a hurried scrawl, on 24th ultimo from St Goar on the Rhine. Soon after my departure from the land of my birth the home of my youth, and the grave of that beloved parent, who early initiated into my young mind lessons of moral rectitude, self-reliance, and a faith in that God who has prospered and blessed me in a thousand ways, notwithstanding my waywardness and transgression against his laws; yes sir, Ireland is to me as it is to most of the sons of that lovely isle, ever dear. Whatever affects its inhabitants, shall while I am permitted to remain on earth, have in my heart a feeling response. I shall never forget the kind receptions I recently met there; sometimes among those, who could but ill afford it; from many who knew me in my youth, from others who knew the family of whom I am one of the descendants; yes sir, I deeply feel for the situation of many of its inhabitants. There I met the extremes of wealth and poverty. What a field is there open for the land proprietors to do good if they would, (and I confess I cannot but think it would in the end promote their pecuniary interest), by giving their tenantry long leases, encouraging under-drainage and other improvements of the spil of which its stands so much in need, particularly in the north, and also by remaining on their estates, spending their income among that class from whose labor and toil it is raised, in place of living abroad letting other countries receive the benefit of that income which should be used at home; and on setting the poor a good example of frugality so little practiced there.—The man of wealth has a thousand ways by which he could do good to those around him and in the end be benefitted by it. A few good men do so act, which appears like an oasis in a desert, throwing around them the gratitude and esteem of all within their aid. But the instances are few.

Pardon this digression from what you expected—my observations of Belgium as I passed rapidly over it, which I promised in my last to give you. Having taken leave of my native land for ever, I cannot but give expression to some of the feelings my recent visit there created And, while I feel confident no man is more devoted to my adopted country and its institutions than I am, nor I trust more grateful to that God who guided my youthful wandering to that favored land, I hope none will think me less worthy of that proud position, an American citizen, for feeling as I do for my native country.

We arrived at Ostend, in Belgium, on 16th Sept., at night, and presented our passport and trunks for examination; they were but slightly examined, and in an hour our baggage, at a cost of about $1 50, was sent up to our Hotel. I was up early and visited the market, which was well supplied with vegetables of all kinds, and an abundant variety of fruits, such as grapes, pears, apples, and the universal plum, which seems so much cultivated throughout Germany, and which seems to me like the damson, it not the same. The town is low and the streets generally very narrow. I should suppose it contain 13,000 to 14,000 inhabitants; I was told more, but this I doubted, although I was there at the time of the greatest resort. It stands on an angle between the open sea and harbor (which is a made one) and even on the land side nearly surrounded by water, which is controlled by sluices; indeed the land around the town is very low and level. It is a very strongly fortified place, surrounded by ramparts and broad ditches, the cannon commanding every approach. To me, the sea-wall, faced with stones, 40 feet high, and paved on top with hard brick, forming as it does a public promenade of half a mile, and commanding an extensive sea and beach view was a point of the most attraction. This town is a favorite watering place for the wealthy Belgians, often resorted to by their truly popular King and his family, of whom the people speak in terms of highest praise. To me their numerous bathing-houses on wheels, drawn out by horses so far as to be deep enough to bathe, with the floors dry to enable you to undress and dress, and from which steps descend to the water, were very curious. I was on the wall just as the water had advanced on the strand, and saw ladies and gentlemen indulging in that luxury. Their bathing dresses, which I am informed are regulated by the police,—seem peculiarly adapted; I was however much amused to see so many intelligent and respectable looking gentlemen watching from the bathing house pavilion the agility of the ladies in dipping under the gentle surge of the tide as it approached them. There they sat, sipping their coffee or smoking their long pipes, enjoying the scene before them, and the breezes from the ocean.

Here I also saw what they call oyster-parks, reservoirs of sea water filled with oysters from the English coast, and fattened it is said, at this point for the French and German markets,—by what other process than the water of the ocean I did not learn. From the extent of these ponds (parks they a re called) it must be a business of some amount.

From Ostend we took railroad to Brussels, passing a very level and highly cultivated country. The hops in many places seem extensively planted, and this year at least, very productive; but the price is so much reduced as to render that crop this season far from remunerative.—On our route we passed the ancient city of Bruges, which is also connected with Ostend by canal.—We should have stopped and visited this city of ancient note, the emporium of European commerce during the middle ages Remains of its ancient grandeur, we are told, still exist. It was long the residence of the Counts of Flanders and also of the Dukes of Burgundy. It seems now to be of little importance as a place of business. It has had its day of ascendency, and like all things earthly must have its decline. We were also unfortunate in passing Ghent without stopping,—the city of Europe during the time of Charles the 5th. The truth is, I knew so little of Europe, that many places were passed by us on our route, of great historical interest, until we got to the Seat of Government of Belgium, where we remained three days This city we were all much delighted with. It is divided into an upper and lower town; the upper town is the most beautiful, and from its high position and thorough drainage must be very healthy. It contains the King's palace, the Chambers or Parliament rooms, and principal hotels. The lower town abounds in buildings of ancient splendor, formerly the residence of Brabant nobles, but now occupied as places of business. Here we found the French language the most generally spoken and had to get what is called a commissioner, or one who attends and speaks to and from you to others—what we call an interpeter. The King being from home, we found some of his servants not only willing but anxious to show us the palace,—as our party was large their payment would be the more. The building was not as magnificent as we expected. It was very splendidly furnished, containing many beautiful paintings. In this building the great Napoleon planned his unfortunate Russian campaign. We visited the town hall, and churches, in which were said to be some of the best works of the ancient masters; but of this, while I speak of paintings, I want you to bear in mind I give you the opinion of others, for I have no capacity for judgment. The picture gallery in the town hall has seven works said to be by Reubens among them the coronation of the Virgin seems the most beautiful. Here we saw the palace (now in the market space) once occupied by Maria Theresa: We also visited, within the the small church, the tomb of the accomplished and virtuous wife of Leopold, the devoted christian lady, full of charity and more than human kindness for her fellow creatures, the affectionate daughter of Louis Philippe, late King of the French She has truly left behind her a name worthy of imitation by the Queens of the earth. The husband, who still remains a widower, is building to her memory a most costly and beautiful chapel, to which, when completed, her mortal remains are to be removed. To the citizens of Brussels the Botanic Garden and park must be attractive, and of great benefit—open to all, rich and poor. The park is a large enclosure in the upper town, laid out in walks, shaded by magnificent trees, and ornamented with statuary. It is truly a blessing to the poor to have such a beautiful retreat,—sitting at these clear fountains, jetting the water up a considerable distance, and inhaling so pure an atmosphere We also visited the house once occupied by the Duchess of Richmond where she gave her grand dancing party to the Duke of Wellington and his officers, on the eve of the battle of Waterloo. We also visited the most extensive lace-manufactory, which interested the younger branches of our charge. The numerous places visited, however, lessened some the the weight of our purse, for in this country you cannot speak to a man, asking a question, who does not expect to be paid for it. We were truly gratified with our visit to this city, which has many other attractions that I have not named; and no doubt many we did not see

I was going to describe to you, as well as I could, my first German dinner at one of their fashionable hotels; but I must desist, as I have been too lengthy already and I fear tedious and uninteresting. The truth is, so fully am I aware of my total unfitness to write you interestingly of the countries we visit, that was it not I promised you, I would decline it. As I am not one who has ever made any profession of literary attainments, I trust the few miscellaneous thoughts which I offer, will be sparingly criticised and charitably received. I may therefore continue them until I return to that spot on earth most conducive to my happiness and contentment —Fort Wayne.

ALLEN HAMILTON.

The Next House of Representatives.—The next House will contain one hundred and thirty one Democrats, ninety two Black Republicans, and fourteen Know Nothings. This includes the three members from Minnesota, who will undoubtedly be promptly admitted. The last House contained but seventy six Democratic members, making a gain from the opposition of fifty five. The Democrats will have a majority of eleven over both Black Republicans and Know Nothings, if there should be no defection or secession from our ranks.

For the Sentinel.

FT. WAYNE, October 30th, 1857.

Mr Editor:

At a meeting of the State Teacher's Association, at Richmond last fall, a committee was appointed to ascertain from the various important and accessible points what the people were disposed to do toward establishing normal schools in the State of Indiana.

I need scarcely say that normal schools are schools for training teachers specifically for the work of teaching. The paucity of first-rate teachers is a fact well known and deeply deplored by all persons conversant with and interested in educational affairs. We have schools for training lawyers, doctors, and ministers specially for the work they have to perform, and unless they have gone through a course of preparation in some of these institutions, or got the necessary instructions in some other way, men are disposed to regard and treat them as poorly qualified for their work; and can it be expected that teachers without any previous training beyond the mere acquisition for knowledge (and sometimes a scarcity of that), can enter upon and properly and efficiently discharge the duties of one of the most important and responsible positions which any human being can occupy?

Knowledge is one and only one of the qualifications necessary to an efficient teacher; but in order to get the benefit of a normal school, the teacher who has obtained such knowledge as ordinary schools can give, must go to Ohio or Michigan, or some of the sister States, where there is more intelligence and educational spirit. Why cannot Indiana make its own teachers, and as good ones too as can be procured from any other state? Ought not Fort Wayne to have one of these normal schools, so that Allen Co may reap some of the benefits? Our public school is doing its work, and doing it pretty well; but the public school cannot do everything. A very promising normal class has already been formed from the pupils of the public school, to which the Superintendent devotes extra time on Saturdays, but this can only remove the difficulty to a small extent.

Ought we to have one of these state normal schools in Fort Wayne? The city and surrounding country need it.

A FRIEND OF EDUCATION.

THE SOCIAL BAND.

Song and Chorus - composed and dedicated to the PENDAGGER CLUB of Fort Wayne, Indiana.

BY ISAAC JENKINSON, ESQ

TUNE—"The Happy Man."

We worship not at Bacchus' shrine,
In revel or carousal,
Nor sing the praise of frosty wine,
When beauty meets espousal.
For these we find debase the mind,
And lead to greater sinning;
But purer far those pleasures be,
That we are hourly winning.
But purer far those pleasures are
That we are hourly winning.

Nor do we bow at Beauty's shrine,
With love's consuming fever,
Nor own the power, though 'tis divine,
That lies in Cupids's quiver;
For woman's smile will oft beguile,
And lead the heart a sinning,
And purer joys Pendagger boys
Are daily, hourly, winning.
And purer joys, &c.

Bound fast in friendship's golden bands,
Our social hearts united,
Pendagger, as a symbol stands
For every pleasure plighted,
How pure the joy, Pendagger boys,
In social circles meeting,
When every heart is counterpart
In other heart is greeting
When every heart &c.

Fort Wayne, Nov. 14th, 1857.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 10.

The Tennessee, from Vera Cruz, on the 7th, has arrived. She brings over a million in specie. Her dates from Vera Cruz are to the 6th, from Mexico to the 4th. The political guarantees of the new Constitution are suspended, and Comonfort was clothed with dictatorial powers. Martial law was proclaimed in the district of Cuernabaca, in consequence of difficulties between the Spanish and Mexican citizens. Alvarez was still successful against the rebels in the South.

Later.—Yucatan and Campeachy have surrendered to the Government forces. The revolution had taken new life, and the whole people were in arms.

Gen Walker was arrested late last night on an affidavit of the Custom House officers, and was immediately admitted to bail in $2,000. It will probably not interfere with his plans.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 11.

Advices from Fort Laramie to the 22d inst., state that Col Cook's command—second draggoons were four miles this side, and had encountered a snow storm five days previously.

Col Johnson, when last heard from was 230 miles beyond Laramie. The snow was seven inches deep 100 miles this side, where the express left him.

Owing to the slim supply of corn, and entire absence of grass, the terms and dragoon horses are failing fast.

News had reached Laramie that the Mormons had burned a train of 75 wagons near Green River, 190 miles behind Col Alexander's command which constitutes that van of General Army. It was rumored that the 5th and 10th infantry, batteries, and the artillery would take possession of the Mormon village at Bear River for winter quaters.

NEW YORK, Nov 9.

Money Matters.—There is a better feeling in business and money matters are improving slowly but surely. Six of our city banks are ready to resume specie payments, and others are gradually coming into the line.

The Lodi Print Works, in New Jersey, expect to resume business next week, with from 300 to 500 hands.

The specie statement to night will show $14,000,000 specie in bank.

Four banks were thrown out today by the Metropolitan; the Western Bank, of Lockport; Powell Bank, of Newburg; Cheming County Bank and Ontario County Bank of Phelps.

The business to day at the Clearing House was nearly $15.000,000 clearings, and upwards of $900,000 balances.

Our weekly bank statement shows an increase in all articles, viz: In loans, $548,487; specie, $3.608,711; circulation, $99,405; deposits, $7,421,109. The total specie is $16,492,152; deposits, $68,881,773.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.

The workingmen held more meetings to-day and a committee of the body had an interview with Mayor Wood, who advised them to meet peaceably Monday night, and to go to the Common Council, and see what they would do for them. The crowd outside, on the return of the committee, gave three cheers for Mayor Wood, and dispersed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.

The "hunger" mob are getting turbulent, and fears are entertained of an outbreak. They gathered in front of the City Hall to day, calling the Mayor a "humbug," and threatening to drag him from his office. A squad of fifty Metropolitan Police was sent for, when the crowd dispersed. At 3 o'clock the gates of the City Hall were closed and guarded, in consequence of certain threats thrown out by the mob. Assistant Treasurer Cisco has telegraphed to Washington for authority to use the government troops on Governor's Island and at the Navy Yard, if needed, to guard the United States funds in the Sub Treasury and the banks. Marshal Rynders has also telegraphed to the same effect.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.

There was another gathering in Tompkins' Square this morning. Speeches were made, not, however, of an incendiary character. There were, also, about a thousand persons in the Park, but the police would allow no speech making.

There is a strong force of police inside of the City Hall, and it is said that a regiment holds itself in readiness at any outbreak, though they are no signs of one.

Both boards and the common council have acted on the Mayor's message in reference to the unemployed poor. The Aldermen resolved not to adopt the suggestions to procure large supplies of food. They, however, passed resolutions having for their object the employment of the poor. The councilmen also reported that they had not the power to provide relief in the direct manner pointed out by the Mayor; they, however, passed resolutions urging on the different boards having charge of the public works to employ laborers, and also recommend the Governor of the Alms House to purchase a store of provisions in anticipation of destitution among the laboring classes.

BOSTON, Nov. 7.

Meetings of Unemployed Workingmen.—Pursuant to a call in the papers, a large meeting of mechanics, and laboring men assembled on the Common here this p. m. Several speeches were made and resolutions passed strongly urging upon the city authorities to take immediate measures to prevent from 2,000 to 3,000 people from actual starvation. Two large banners were were displayed, on which was printed the following: "We ask not alms but work, that our wives and children may not starve;" "Peace and good will is our motto."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.

The Secretary of War received to-day a despatch, dated Ft. Leavenworth. Intelligence had been received to the effect that the Mormons were calling into Salt Lake all their force from the surrounding country, and were organizing to resist the U. S. troops. Orders had been sent to Gen. Harney, to remain at Fort Leavenworth for the present. In case the Mormons resist our troops, another large force under the command of Harney will be immediately ordered to Utah.

The department has just received despatches confirmatory of previous reports that the Mormons are bent on resistance of the U. S. troops. Appointments of the army and general preparations are such that no fears are entertained for the result.

The Administration had received no very important despatches in relation to the events in Central America or Costa Rican movements. No matter what other governments may do in regard to those affairs, ours will pursue an independent American policy without entangling alliances.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.

Orders were issued to day for the immediate concentration of the Marine Corps stationed at Boston, Philadelphia and Washington, to protect the Sub-Treasury properly at New York, from rioters. If necessary, all the available army will also be ordered for the same duty. Col. Harris commanding the Marine Corps at Brooklyn, who was here on special duty, went to New York to night under orders to report to Gen. Scott forthwith.

Mr. Mason has forwarded to the State Department his resignation of the French mission, to take effect in January.

It is rumored that Frassari is to be received as Minister from Nicaragua to morrow. The statement is discredited, though possible true. Much misapprehension exists in regard to the view of the Administration on the Tehuantepec question.

Mexico has offered to extend, for a large pecuniary consideration the rights which the United States acquired under the Gadsden Treaty. Connected with that subject the correspondence will be transmitted to Congress.

The Frauds in Kansas—By Whom Perpetrated.—The Leavenworth City correspondent of the Cincinnati Times says, the bogus returns from the Oxford precinct, were made up of names in one hand writing, and that the strip of paper measured fifty four feet in length. All the names except one hundred and twenty, were copied from "William's Cincinnati Directory" It is now believed that the fraud was perpetrated by the "free state' people themselves, for effect, and with a view of charging it upon their opponents, thereby involving them in difficulty.

Election Outrage.—At St Paul, Min., on election day, an armed band of black republican ruffians took possession of the polls of one the wards, and, with revolvers and knives, drove off and kept from voting some two or three hundred legal voters.

General Walker.—This evening's Post states, on good authority, that Gen. Walker will sail this week from New Orleans for Nicaragua, with 1,500 troops in a fine steamer, with plenty of ammunition and provisions Colonel Duncan, of the U. S. Army, goes out to command the artillery.

Disastrous Floods at the East.—The telegraph brings accounts of disastrous floods throughout the State of New York. The Erie and Central Railroads were submerged and much damage done. We give the following items:

At Elmira on the 10th, the river was very high, and still rising. The water ran over the New York and Erie Railroad bridges and it is feared the bridge will give way every moment. The track at Corning is washed away and no trains can pass that place. Corning is nearly under water, and some buildings have gone down the river.

At Rochester great damage has been done, and farther up the Genessee valley. At Damsville, eight dams and six bridges were swept away on the night of the 9th

The river is very high and still rising. Numerous culverts, on the New York Central Railroad between Rochester and Syracuse, have been washed away.

The track is inundated in many places, and no trains can pass.

At Williamsport, Penn., the Susquehanna has risen ten feet, and is still rising.

Two bad breaks have occurred on the New York canal, near Palmyra and Newark. It will require five days to repair the damage.

Baltimore Congressman Elect.—The States, a Democratic paper at Washington, thinks that Congress will not permit the newly elected Baltimore Congressmen to take their seats It says: "There was no election in Baltimore, and the appearance of two members, Messrs. Davis and Brooks, before Congress, will, we imagine, rather inform the mob of that city, that holding the ballot-box with one hand, and shooting off a revolver with the other, to intimidate, kill, and keep off a large portion of the citizens, is not the form of election which is regarded as legal and constitutional In view of the facts there can scarcely be adoubt of the rejection of Messrs. Davis and Brooks' by Congress. Such a constitutional act will worthily commence the session of a Democratic Congress. Thus, at least, may some of the results of rowdyism be checked."

Michigan Southern and Northern Indiana Railroad.—We were informed this morning, by the President of this Company, that the contract between them and the Michigan Central Company, alluded to us in progress of negotiation, in the recent report of their Executive Committee, had been consummated; and that he estimated this contract, together with other measures of administrative improvement in the affairs of the Company inaugurated by the new Board, as equivalent to a net gain, on a business equal that of the current year, of at least five hundred thousand dollars.

The new board have entered upon their duties with a business purpose to make the institution useful to the stockholders: and tho' many of them were strangers to each other, they have pursued their object with that unanimity and practical good sense that promises all that can be done to bring the company out of its present embarrassments. They have frankly called on the stockholders to render the aid they need in this emergency—and if properly responded to, this important institution promises to be highly beneficial to its owners, as well as eminently useful to the public.—N. Y. Post.

We understand that Mr. John M. Forbes, of Boston, who went to England to negotiate the proposed new loan for the Michigan Central Railroad, has been enabled to raise £400,000 for that purpose. In the present condition of the money market this must be considered as a great success, and is a proof of the continued confidence of English capitalists in this road.—

Now is the Time to Seek Relief from the Evils of Bank Paper.—The evils of the Banking system are being burnt in the hearts of men at the present by personal sufferings. There is scarcely a family in the land that does not feel the blow struck at all the sources of industry and prosperity, by this breaking down of the paper currency system. Now, therefore, is the time to look for some infallible means to insure exemption from like revulsions in the future. There need be no measures adopted to reach the desired end. Paper money can be gradually withdrawn from circulation, and gold and silver substituted. This was done when the small notes were banished from our State. Then, as now, the weak and timid advocates of a paper currency proclaimed the doctrine that there was not gold and silver coin sufficient to fill the channels of trade in our State. But what was the result? Simultaneously with the disappearance of paper, gold and silver came forth in abundance to meet all the wants of legitimate trade. And so it would be if the banks were restricted in their issues to notes of twenty dollars, or even fifty. The absence of paper currency is the sure herald of the appearance of the precious metals.—Pennsylvanian.

Death of Crawford, the Sculptor.—The American Sculptor, Crawford, reports of whose hopeless condition from a cancer in the eye, have excited painful interest in this country for months past, died on the 10th inst., in London. He was a man of fine genius and character.

PROCLAMATION.

The custom which has long prevailed, of the people of the State assembling annually, to return their thanks to Almighty God for his watchful care over the welfare of our prosperous Commonwealth, is one which commends itself to the enlightened judgment of all men. We have more than ordinary occasion to be grateful for the abundant harvest, preserved health, and continued peace which have been vouchsafed to us during the present year. I therefore appoint Thursday, the 26th day of November, 1857, as a day of Thanksgiving and Prayer, and invite all good citizens to abstain from their secular pursuits on that day, return their thanks for the favors received, and unitedly invoke the blessings of God for the future, upon our beloved State and Nation.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto [L.S.] set my hand, and caused to be affixed the Seal of the State of Indiana, this, the 10th day of November, A D. 1857; the 42d year of the State, and of the Independence of the United States, the eighty second By the Governor,

ASHBEL P. WILLARD.

DANIEL MCCLURE, Secretary of State.

☞ Advanced years often cause us to feel the necessity of a resort to some artificial means, by which to rally and bolster temporary strength and bring to our impaired faculties, which is most effectually done by the use of Hostetter's celebrated Stomach Bitters, before meals. One wine glass used as per direction on the bottle, or in smaller quantities, if the person is weak in body, will convince the most credulous of its restorative effects, to which thousands can testify who used it for years, and under no circumstance could be persuaded to do without it. Ladies, especially, have found the inestimable benefits resulting from even one bottle. For sale by druggists generally.

Caution.

There are times when the Hachish or Percé Pills should not be taken, as the experience having proved, that they not only prevent pregnancy, but invariably cause miscarriage, if taken during the earlier months; married ladies are therefore cautioned against using them at such times—at any other time they are safe.

One peculiar feature of these Pills is the remarkable effect they have upon the sexual organs in the night, clearing out and bringing, (which is not transient or injurious, but highly beneficial and lasting) increasing its power of fascination to an eminent degree; and this fact, in connection with their certainty in removing obstructions &c., indisputably proves that they contain properties and produce effects never before obtained

PILES! PILES! PILES!!

This hitherto intractable disease, of every form and in every stage,

CURED BY EXTERNAL APPLICATION ONLY

Dr. Cavanaugh's PILE SALVE

WILL never fail in giving immediate relief, and positively curing the worst and most obstinate case of Hæmorrhoids or Piles. It is the here or elsewhere for the Piles, and the result of years of patient study and investigations.

ONLY INFAILLIBLE REMEDY KNOWN

Sufferers from Piles now have a remedy at hand which will

without the fair of failure on its part to do all the proprietor claims for it,

Full directions accompanying each box; and all that is requisite is strictly to observe them, and a cure is certain to follow.

The proprietor refers to the following testimonials from gentlemen of character and standing; who have voluntarily given their certificates in its favor in regard to its efficacy in their own cases. Read them

The following is from one of the most reliable citizens of Chicago, the late Treasurer of Cook County, Illinois:

Chicago, July 25, 1855.

Dr. Cavanaugh:—Dear Sir,—I wish hereby to make known to the afflicted that I have been troubled with the Piles for twenty years and upwards, and at times most severely. And during a recent and exceedingly painful attack a friend procured a box of your Salve, and asked me to give it a trial. I did so; not however with the expectation of benefitting my disease, for truly, I had tried so many applications I had lost confidence in all. But in making use of your Salve, I soon found that it was doing me good; and really it is incredible to myself, that with only about two weeks' use of your Salve, I am so far as I can judge a well man.

I must cheerfully make this statement, believing it due both to yourself and such as may be afflicted with this most painful and trying disease. I do not hesitate to say that I consider your preparation an invaluable remedy for the Piles.

Most sincerely yours, N N. HEALD.

The Hon. Richard Yates, late member of Congress from the Springfield, Ill., district, says;

Jacksonville, Ill., Nov. 15, 1855.

Dr. Thos. H. Cavanaugh.—Dear Sir,—The preparation, Cavanaugh's Pile Salve, which you furnished, I found of great service, producing an easy and speedy cure. I do not hesitate to recommend it as an invaluable remedy for the Piles.

Respectfully, RICHARD YATES.

To be an exile from one's native land ten years and then after escaping from the perils of the ocean to die of hunger in the streets of a Christian city, I felt was a bitter fate.

"My name is Authur Willet," added the stranger.

"Why, that is my wife's family name! She will be pleased at her agency in your recovery."

"Of what state is she a native?" asked Arthur Willet eagerly.

"I married her in the town of B——, where she was born."

At this moment Mrs. Maywood entered the room, surprised at the long absence of her husband.

Arthur Willet gazed at her with a look of wild surprise, murmuring:

"It cannot be—it cannot be, I am delirious to think so.

Mrs. Maywood gazed with little less astonishment.

"What painful mystery is this?" cried doctor Maywood, excitedly, addressing his wife, who then became conscious of the singularity of her conduct.

"Oh, no mystery, she replied, sighing deeply, "only this stranger is the image of my long lost brother, Arthur." And Mrs. Maywood, over come with emotion, turned to leave the room.

"Stay one moment," pleaded the stranger, drawing a small morning ring from his finger, and holding it up, asked if she recognized that relic

"It is my father's grey hair and you are——"

"His son, Arthur Willet, and your brother."

Mary Willet Maywood fell upon the mendicant's breast, weeping tears of sweetest joy and thanksgiving.

Doctor Maywood retired from the room and left sister and brother alone in that sacred hour of re union, saying to himself:

"Be not forgetful to entertain strangers, for thereby some have entertained angles unawares."

Morrible Massacre of Emigrants—Over One Hundred Persons Killed.

J Ward Christian writes to the Los Angeles Star as follows:

SAN BERNARDINO, Sunday, Oct 4, 1857.

I take this opportunity of informing you of the murder of an entire train of emigrants, on their way from Missouri and Arkansas th this State, via Great Salt Lake City, which took place, according to the best information I can possibly acquire, (which is, primarily, through Indians,) at the mountain Meadows, which are at or near the rim of the Great Basin, and some distance south of the most southern Mormon settlements, between the 10th and 12th ult. It is absolutely one of the most horrible massacres I have ever had the painful necessity of relating.

The company consisted of one hundred and thirty or one hundred and thirty five men, women and children, and including some forty or forty five capable of bearing arms. They were in possession of quite an amount of stock, consisting of horses, mules, and oxen. The encampment was attacked about daylight in the morning, so say the Indians, by the combined forces of all the various trices immediately in that section of the country. It appears that the majority of them were slain at the first onset made by the Indians.

The remaining force forced themselves into the best position their circumstances would allow; but before they could make the necessary arrangements for protecting themselves from the arrows, there were but few left who were able to bear arms

After having corralled their wagons and dug a ditch for their protection, they continued to five upon the Indians for one or two days; but the Indians had so secreted themselves that, according to their own statement, there was not one of them killed, and but few wounded. They (the emigrants) then sent out a flag of truce, borne by a little girl, and gave themselves up to the mercy of the savages, who immediately rushed in and slaughtere all of them, with the exception of fifteen infant children that have since been purchased, with some difficulty, by the Mormon interpreters.

I presume it would be unnecessary for all practical purposes to relate the causes which gave rise to the above described catastrophe, from the simple fact that it will be attributed to the Mormon people, let the circumstances of the case be what they may.

It seems, from a statement which I received from Elders Wm Mathew and Wm Hyde, who were in Great Salt Lake City at the time this train was there, recruiting their "fit out," and were on the road to this place at the time when they were murdered, but several days' journey in the rear—somewhere about the Beaver Mountains, which is between Parawan and Fillmore cities—that the causes were something like these: The train camped at Corn Creek, near Fillmore City, where there is an Indian village, the inhabitants of which have raised a crop of wheat and a few melons, &c. And in trading with the Indians they gave them cash for wheat, and they, not knowing the value of coin, were severely cheated. They wanted a blanket for a sack of wheat, but they gave them fifty cents, and told them that amount would buy a blanket.

They also had an ox with them which had died, and they put strychnine in him, for the purpose of poisoning the Indians; also put poison of some description id the water, which is standing in holes. This occasioned several deaths among them within a few days after the departure of the train. And upon this, it seems, the Indians gathered themselves together, and had no doubt chosen the place of attack, and arranged everything before the train arrived at the place where they were murdered.

It was ascertained from some of the interpreters, from a few of the Indians who were left at CaroCreek, that most of the Indians in the country had left; but they could not learn for what purpose, and before any steps could be taken to ascertain for certain what was the cause, the story was told—they were all killed.

Yours, truly,
J. WARD CHRISTIAN.

Resurrectionists.—The people of Chicago have been astonished, by the discovery that their City Sexton, has been engaged in robbing the graves of their dead. Suspicions having been excited that such a work was going on, a private police was employed to detect the depredators After some nights of patient watching, they discovered a wagon with three men in it. The night being intensely dark, they succended in arresting but one of the men, who proved to be Martin Quinlan, the City Sexton. In the wagon were two corpses stowed into canvass bags, similar to those used for carrying newspayers by mail. One of the refugees was afterwards apprehended and proved to be a medical student.

A Fast Town.—The St. Paul Advertiser says at the present time there is not less than $600,000 of overdue and protested paper deposited by Eastern creditors in the banks of that city; that the indebtedness in St. Paul to banks alone due or to become due in the next six months, is $750,000 more; while the eastern indebtedness of the merchants and others to mature in the same period is $1,200,000. That is, the city owes $2,500,000, of which $1,500,000 is due to the East. Other towns in the Territory are similarly involved.

Fire in the Chimney.—In cases of fire in the chimney, it is an excellent plan to put salt on the fire in the grate below, as it acts chemically on the flames soot above This has been found to extinguish the fire in a short time, and deserves to be more generally known.

☞ The Albany, N. Y., Atlas and Argus states that eleven ably conducted newspapers of that State, that supported Fremont last fall, are now bravely working for the restoration of the Democracy to power.

☞ The Postmaster General has recently decided, that if the Postmasters do not give publishers of newspapers notice when their papers remain in the Postoffice without being taken out by the subscribers within five weeks, they are liable for the pa-.

☞ John C. Fremont was initiated into the Know Nothing Order at the City of Washington in 1855. A recent quarrel in the Lodge which took him "in out of the wet" has brought this fact to light. His signature is said to be remarkably bold.

☞ During the three months ending 30th September last, there arrived at Liverpool from the United States 2,769 returned emigrants.

"Good morning, Jones. How does the world use you?" "It uses me up, thank you."

Quit Drinking Poisonous Liquors.

PATENT IMPROVED PROCESS

FOR MAKING ALL KINDS OF

Liquors and Vinegar,

INSTANTLY, by the use of

LACOUR'S ESSENTIAL OILS.

THESE OILS are obtained by Distillation at the Chemical Laboratory, Parish of Jefferson, of PIERRE LACOUR, author of Lacour's Chemical Analysis, Lacour's Chemical Manipulations, Lacour on the Manufacture of Liquors, &c.

Purchasers are particularly requested to return the flasks and obtain their money, if the Oil does not give perfect satisfaction.

LACOUR'S OIL OF COGNAC converts neutral spirit to a superior imitation of Imported Brandies, viz: Otard, Sazerac, Marett Cognac, Poultney, Seignette, United Vineyard Proprietors, Castillon and London Dock Brandies. These Liquors will have a delightful flavor and beautiful sparkling color. Common Rectified Whisky will be changed by the use of the Oil of Cognac to New York Brandy Pine Apple Brandy, Common Cognac Brandy, &c.

LACOUR'S OIL OF RYE changes Rectified Whisky to Monongahela Rye Whisky, Old Virginia Malt Whisky Bourbon Whisky &c.

OIL OF CEORAT changes common Rectifier Whiskey to Old Irish Malt Whisky, and a superior article of Scotch Whisky.

OIL OF PEACH changes common Whisky to Virginia Peach Brandy, &c Oil of Peach and Oil of Cognac will convert common Whisky to Apple Brandy

OIL OF GIN converts the poorest Whisky to Holland Gin, Schiedam Schnapps, Rose Gin, Swan Gin, English Gin &c

LACOUR'S CONCENTRATED ACID will, in five hours after being mixed, change five gallons of good Vinegar and twenty five gallons of water to thirty gallons of the most acid Vinegar that can be found in the market. By the use of Lacour's Concentrated Acid, vinegar can be made for one dollar and sixty cents per barrel.

FOR MAKING LIQUORS, Lacour's Oils require no preparation—only pour the Oil into the Whisky and shake well. The Liquors thus made will have a fine natural aroma, a full rich, pleasant, a beautiful transparent color, and a fine beard Lacour's Oils exert three distinct properties in converting common Whisky to Brandy, Gin, &c. The first property combines with and consists in the form of flocculent particles the whole of the grain oil (Amylic Alcohol) The Whisky is thus deprived of this peculiar irritating and burning taste, and becomes a neutral spirit; the second property consists in an oily mucilaginous nate imparted to the liquor, which renders it mellow and imparts an appearance of great age; the third property is exhibited in the rich vinous nutty odor that is imparted to the liquor, which renders distinction from the genuine brands impossible.

The scents are put up in quart flasks; each flask contains sufficient oil for making three hundred gallons of liquor Full and comprehensive direction accompany the bottles. Price $2 per bottle.

For Sale at the corner of St. Charles and Poydras Streets, New Orleans.

One bottle of these oils, five in number, will be securely packed and shipped with bill of lading, to any part of the country, upon the receipt of $10, to the address of

P. LACOUR New Orleans.

Purchasers are requested, as a guarantee of good faith, to furnish us the name of any house in New Orleans, and we will ship them a package of the Oils. If they do not perform all that is claimed for them, they will cost nothing.

DR. J. HOSTETTER'S

Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nausea, Constipation Flatulency, Loss of Appetite or any Bilious Complaints arising from a morbid inaction of the Stomach or Bowels producing Cramps Dysentery, Colic, Cholera Morbus, &c. &c.

All of these ills yield like magic to its vivifying influence upon the system, and for a person in advanced years, or recovering from sickness of any kind, nothing can be more conducive to their convalescence than the use of these Bitters as per directions on the bottles.

Scarcely four years have elapsed since the first introduction of Dr. J. Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters" to the public, and such has been the success of this article after its tested efficacy by a discriminating public, that during the last year nearly half a million bottles were sold, with a continuous demand in excess of the supply with all the facilities the proprietors have been able to command in its preparation.

Are you dyspeptic? Then take these Stomach Bitters.

Are you bilious? Try one bottle of these Bitters, and be relieved at once.

Are you annoyed by indigestion or constipation? Remove the cause by the free use of these Bitters.

Have you fever and ague? How many thousands in the West and South have been cured of this constitution-destroying disease by the free use of these Bitters!

All should try this great Antidote. We venture to affirm that, when Hostetters's Stomach Bitters are used, a case of Fever and Ague cannot occur: therefore, no family consulting their own interest can afford to do without it.

A WORD TO THE LADIES.

In recommending to your use Dr J Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters, it is but just to state that as a simulant to the system, in imparting strength and vigor, preparatory to periodical stages, which are of times attended with much pain and trouble, we know of no preperation more happily adapted to all afflictions consequent upon this cause, and for cramps in stomach, cholera morbus, and all ailments arising from over indulgence in fruits, vegetables, ice creams, &c., it is certain and almost instantaneous remedy, and no family should be without it.

One wineglassful taken three times each before meals, at half the quantity to the patients are in a weak condition, and increased in proportion to their strength, will be found a great tonic agent, which all will appreciate when personally satisfied of the fact, as they will be by giving the Bitters one trial.

☞ CAUTION. ☜

Carefulness should be our study, but more particularly when the health is at stake. Since these Bitters have, from their medical qualities, become so popular, there have been a great many concoctions called Stomach Bitters, and often represented to be the same in virtue as Dr. Hostetter's, palmed upon the public. Beware of these vilainous compounds! Our Bitters are put up in square quart bottles, and covered with the patent metallic cap, stamped "Hostetter's Stomach Bitters," and Dr. J. Hostetter blown on the glass. All others are imitation.

I think I am cured permanently sound and well, and have no dread of a recurrence of the disease."

The Cemetery Once More.

This subject, about which there was so much said and written a few week ago, appears to have lost all its interest, as is too frequently the case hereabouts, and for which our people are somewhat celebrated when any new and exciting subject is introduced. This, in the present instance especially, is very much to be regretted, and it is hoped will only be temporary. Surely our citizens are no less conscious now than they were a month or two ago of the certainty of death, and the uncertainty of having a safe, quiet, and suitable resting place for themselves and friends. The present temporary burial ground, it is conceded upon all hands, must soon be abandoned; so that if there was no other desire to make a change, necessity would soon leave no alternative.

I have listened to what has been said and written on the subject of the importance of a cemetery, and with reference to the several points that have been named as suitable locations. For myself, I would have been content with any location that a majority of those who were willing to invest their means in so laudable a work would have selected; yet I could but feel that by far the most desirable place was entirely overlooked. And now, since the other places, on account of the numerous objections raised to them, are nearly if not quite abandoned, I will venture to suggest the place. It is the property lying east of the Lutheran Seminary and burying ground, and is owned by Horace B Taylor and others

The surface of this ground is undulating, which with its other advantages renders it susceptible of the highest rural embellishment. The soil is loam, clay, and sand, with gravel subsoil in portions of it, and all easily underdrained, which all cemetery grounds no matter what the soil, must be. It is of easy access, being but a few rods from the limits of the city; yet the location is quiet and retired; there are no rail roads, rivers or canals to cross in its approach, as is the case with all the other points named, and which to many, if not to all, is an almost insurmountable objection. A small portion of the public road leading to it, during a short period in the spring and fall, has been usually muddy and otherwise bad, but by recent improvements in gravelling, &c. is now one of the finest thoroughfares in the country; if the improvements are continued for a year or two, which I understand is the intention, under the direction of the present efficient superintendent, John Burt, it will be equal to any McAdamized road to be found anywhere.

I will now leave the subject to the consideration of those who have been so zealous in this good work, confidently trusting that whilst the advantages of the grounds suggested will commend themselves to their attention, their philanthropic efforts will secure this or some other desirable ground, as a suitable resting place for the departed dead.

Before closing however, allow me to call the attention of the readers of the Sentinel to the following excellent article just published in the "Country Gentleman," as eminently appropriate here at the present time. N.

The Planting of Rural Cemeteries.

We venture to make a few suggestions, first, in reference to planting the grounds at large, and secondly, in respect to individual lots.

It is assumed in the very title of our subject that cemeteries are to be planted. They are not to be felt naked and desolate, as were most of the old fashioned burying yards, exposed to beating storms and burning suns. They are to have the guardianship and companionship of trees, the grace and attraction which they lend to places which might otherwise be uninteresting, if not repulsive. One may well question the suitableness of some kinds of embellishments occasionally seen in cemeteries, but no one can doubt the appropriateness of trees. The historical argument favors such planting. In providing a burial place for himself and his descendants, Abraham desired not only "the cave" and "the field" in Machpelah, but also "all the trees that were in the field and in all the borders round about." The Israelites loved to bury their dead under the shadow of oak trees. The Jews often used their gardens for family cemeteries. The Turks bury in groves of cypress.

And if cemeteries are to be planted, how it is to be done? Is there anything in the character of the place to determine the style of our planting? Yes there is. Cemeteries should inspire feelings of solemnity, reverence and tender respect for the memory of the dead; it should remind us of our own mortality and that of our friends. At the same time, with the light of Revelation around us, our feelings should not be those of despair, but of humble resignation, of unwavering trust and cheerful hope. From these considerations, we conclude that a cemetery should be a pleasant, cultivated scene, but one without the usual embellishments of a public park, or the highly dressed grounds of a private residence. We do not wish to inter our friends in a wild forest, nor should our planting aim to represent such a scene. The gay parterres, the surprises and other fanciful conceits of pleasure grounds, would also be out of harmony with the true spirit of a burial place. The grounds should be substantially enclosed with fences or hedges and belts of trees, to give them an air of security and seclusion; they should be intersected with roads and walks, and planted with trees and shrubs, to give them a civilized air, and a human interest; and a subdued cheerfulness, and to make them appear to be a suitable resting place and home for the dead.

In planting a cemetery, special reference should be had to economizing space for interments. Trees must not be scattered indiscriminately over the grounds, or arranged solely with an eye to their effect. They must be planted only along the outskirts of the cemetery, at the angles of the roads and the lots, and on the margins of the avenues, and in any other open spaces left for this purpose.

A cemetery should be planted with evergreens more largely than ornamental grounds commonly are. There is an inherent fitness in their use, and the practice of ages has given them a double suitableness. Of these trees, there is a greater variety than is commonly supposed. Beside the ever present Balsam fir, there are seven or eight sorts of hardy pines, several of spruce, of arbor vitæ and of juniper, the red cedar Savin, hemlock and others.

A cemetery should be planted with drooping trees, to some extent. This should be done, not to give the place a dolorous aspect, but as expressive of tender recollection for the departed, and to mark the spot as distinct and set apart from other grounds. Of such trees, the very best is the native white elm. The common weeping willow is also appropriate, and should be planted wherever it is hardy. The class of trees technically called "weeping trees," should be introduced in limited number. The common European weeping ash, the birch and linden, and several of the elm family are among the best

In the planting of private lots, several things should be considered:

1. The best possible embellishment is a smooth carpet of fine grass. To secure this, the ground should be trenched and manured, unless the soil is naturally deep and rich, and then sowed with pure grass seed and white clover, or sodded with clean turf from the roadside. It should also be mowed frequently during the summer.

2. Few, if any, trees should be planted in a lot, and these should be small. A cemetery lot is designed for interments, and nothing should be planted to interfere with that design. [Sometimes a half dozen maples or horse chestnuts are set in a single small lot, which must in a few years fill the ground with a net work of large roots, shade the monuments injuriously, and prevent the growth of the grass and the hedge. If trees must be planted, we should recommend one or two of medium size, like the mountain ash, dog wood, Red bud. Virgilea lutea, striped bark maple, copper beech.

3 Some lots might be planted with one or more small weeping trees: such as the Amelanchier, the new American weeping willow, the larch and Japan sophora

4. Of lot is not complete without evergreens; but these also should be few and small. Perhaps the greatest prevalent fault in planting cemeteries is the use of too many evergreens, and those which grow to a large size. We often see six where two would be enough. And then, those of large spreading habit are as frequently used as the smaller. Pines, Norway Spruces and Balsams, look very well when first set out, but they won't stay small: in a few years their branches completely cover the lot and its monuments, stretch far across the hedges and out into the walk and roads. The result of all this is that the trustees of the Association have to interfere, and cause those trees to be removed. Such trees are utterly unfit for lots, and should be planted only in the large, open spaces before mentioned. Among small evergreens, or those, which can easily be kept small, we mention the hemlock, Siberian Arbor Vitæ, Savin, American and Swedish junipers. American Yew, Mahonia and American holly.

5. Shrubs are a better adornment of lots than trees. Those of neat habit, of dark foliage, and which hold their leaves fresh throughout the season, are to be preferred. Among these are several varieties of the Euonymus especially the European and the broad leaved, the upright honeysuckles, the Deutzias, Spireas, roses, particularly the white.

6. Flowers should not be omitted. A few daisies violets, the pyrethrum, blue and white verbenas—what can be better?

7. If a lot is to be enclosed with a hedge—and certainly this is preferable to high, stiff palisades of iron—the hemlock may be trained into a neat shape, the juniper is sometimes recommended, and the native privet answers an excellent purpose. Whatever plant is used, it should be kept low by pruning twice a year.

☞ From a private letter dated Mora, New Mexico, October 3d, 1857, we take the following extract:

Gentlemen: We have just concluded one of the most exciting elections that ever happened in this Territory, and after a severe struggle, have elected our Territorial Democratic candidates. Mr Otero as delegate by a majority of near three thousand votes. It is very evident our Mexican population is becoming more Americanized, and already begin to feel more and more the value of a vote. Every election is more exciting, and the interest shown by all classes on the return of an election day is manifestly increasing in strength. The peon or slave to indebtedness already knows that his master has no right to claim his vote and the freedom of the ballot box has become fully established in the minds of the people. This alone is a very great victory gained. In the late canvas Mr Otero exhibited great energy in proving to these people that they are now living under a constitution which secures to them "Liberty, inalienable rights, and the pursuit of happiness."

The Gila expedition against the Southern Apaches has returned, and has done much credit to all concerned. The campaign was a difficult and an arduous one, and much honor is due to the officers and men for the faithful service they have rendered.

On account of the enmity of the Cheyennes, an escort of twenty five men accompanies this mail to the crossing of the Arkansas. A great many passengers go in—Mr Otero and wife, ex Secretary Davis and wife, Mrs Davenport, and many others.

Speculators and Capitalists.—This bit will fit other latitudes than that of Paris—a 'good thing' of a Parisian gamin (urchin, loafer boy.) it is lively, energetic, characteristic, and was effective.

Two gentlemen were chatting on the Boulevard. One was a great speculator, developing the plan of a magnificent project, the other a dazzled capitalist, ready to snap at the bait.—He hesitated a little, but was just yielding, merely making a few objections for conscience's sake

Near these two, paused a couple of youngsters of ten or twelve years. They were looking into a tobacco shop close by, and one cries out to the other:

"By the piper! I'd like to smoke a sou's worth of tobacco!"

"Well," said the other, "buy a sou's worth."

"Ah! as luck will have it, I haven't the sou."

"Hold on! I've got two sous."

"That's the ticket! just the thing—one for the pipe and one for the tobacco."

"Oh, yes! But what am I to do?"

"You? Oh! you shall be the stockholder; you can spit!"

It was a flash of light. The capitalist thrust his hands into his pockets and fled. The speculator cast a furious look at the two urchins and turned down the street.

Shorten Your Skirts.—Empress Eugenie has lately permitted her ankles to be seen without gathering up her skirts, and it is high time, therefore, that American women, who adopted everything Frenchy, should take a tuck in their skirts. A correspondent of the New York Post who saw the Empress at a grand review by Napoleon of his camp at Chalons, lately, says:

On the day of my visit to the camp, the Emperor, accompanied by the Empress on horseback, and a numerous staff of marshals and general officers, exercised eighteen thousand men for some hours. The presence of the Empress gave more interest to many present than the movements of the troops. After she had returned and alighted at the imperial headquarters, she reappeared amidst the shouts of the multitude, without her riding dress and I would venture to commend to our American women the shortness of her skirts, which permitted to be seen a beautiful pair of ankles—a pleasant episode in a military review.

The Empress of the Indies.—The rumor which is being propagated by the press, that Queen Victoria is about proclaiming herself "Empress of India," is a topic of considerable interest. Such an event is not at all improbable, if it be true that her Majesty is anxious to change her Royal into an Imperial diadem, and still less so when we consider the fact that the government of the East India Company, has, to a certain extent proved a failure. That law which invested the Company with power can also annul that power. In 1733, the charter of the East India Company was not removed, but in Act was passed, continuing to the Company all its possessions, revenues, and merchandize, in trust for the Crown of Great Britain and Ireland until the year 1854 In 1833, Parliament again passed an Act, continuing the possessions of the Company in trust for the Crown until Parliament shall otherwise order.

The actuall bearing of this is—that, on paying £200 for every £100 of the Company's capital stock, the British Parliament can transfer from the Company to the Crown nearly the whole peninsula of Hindostan, and make British India an integral part of the British Empire.

Honduras Interoccanic Canal.—The New Herald has advices from Honduras to Oct. 7th The surveying corps of the projected Interoceanic Railroad, had reached Comoyagua, a point midway between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. The survey had thus far proved satisfactory, and the party of Engineers were in good health and capital spirits.

At Omoa the authorities were warlike, and were making preparations to repel an apprehended attack from Walker's filibusters, and a British vessel of war was daily expected to arrive to aid in the defence of the town.

HOW THEY TALK IN UTAH.

A Sermon Delivered at Salt Lake City

Since the Kansas question is virtually settled, the next subject of engrossing interest is Utah.

How the Mormons relish the appointment of Gov Cumming, and the expedition which is to put him in power may be learnod from the following extracts from a sermon delivered to the faithful, at Salt Lake City, and reported at full length in the Mormon paper.

From the Desert News Sept. 9th.

Discourse by Prest Heber C. Kimball, Bowery, Sunday Morning, Aug 30. 1857.

You must expect when you see Brother Heber stand before you to speak, that you will hear what is called the rough atchel to this generation.

* * * * * * *

I want to tell some of my feelings here to day, in a few words relative to brother Brigham. I call him brother. I shall only call him President before the Saints, in his calling. I was going to say before our enemies, but damn them, they shall never come here

Excuse me, I never use rough words, only when I come in contact with such rough things. You all acknowledge brother Young as the President of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints; then you acknowledge him as our Leader, Prophet, Seer and Revelator, and then you acknowledge him in every capacity that pertains to his calling both in Church and State do you not. [Voices: "Yes,"]

Well, he is our Governor What is a Governor? One who presides, or governs. Well, now we have declared in a legislative capacity that we will not have poor, rotten-hearted cusses come rule over us such as they have been accustomed to send. We drafted a memorial and the Council and the House of Representatives, endorsed it and sent to the names of men of our choice, as many as from five to eight men for each office. men from our own midst, out of whom to appoint officers for this Territory.

We sent that number for the President of the United States to make a selection from, and asked him to give us men of our own choice, in accordance with the rights constitutionally guaranteed to American citizens.

We just told them right up and down, that if they sent any more such miserable cusses as some they had sent here, we would send them home, and that is one reason why an army or rather a mob, is on the way here as reported. You did not know the reason before, did you?

* * * * * * *

Now gentlemen and ladies, you look at these things, and then right in this book, the Bible; it says our nobles shall be of ourselves, that is, our Lords, our Governors, our Judges, our Marshalls, and our everything shall be of ourselves. Won't you read the 30th chapter of Jeremiah?

21. And their nobles shall be of themselves and their Governors shall proceed from the midst of them; and I will cause him to draw near, and he shall approach unto me; for who is this that engaged his heart to approach unto me? saith the Lord.

22. And ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

23. Behold, the whirland of the Lord goeth forth with fury, a continuing whirlwind: it shall fall with pain upon the head of the wicked.

24. The fierce anger of the Lord shall not return, until he have done it, and until he have performed the intents of his heart: in the latter day ye shall consider it.

Well, the day has come when our Governor comes out of our midst, and he is in the tops of the mountains, just where the prophets said these things should come to pass, and now the United States are reported to be trying to force a Governor upon us when the Lord has raised one up right in our midst.

* * * * * * *

I will now bring up a comparison. I live in the city of Great Salt Lake. I am a father, a husband, a benefactor to between sixty and seventy subjects: I feed them; I clothe them; and they do not have a pin, a drink of tea, or any thing, but what I provide; I provide them houses to live in, and beds to sleep on. But suppose that by and by some stranger comes along, and my family say to him, "we will have you to preside over us," and they reject me, when at the same time they say, "Br Heber is a good man," but the other man comes with a smiling facee, and my family take him and reject me—what have they done? If they reject me, they reject their head; and by so doing, they destroy their heirship to the head or limb to which they are lawfully connected. Is not that so?

Suppose you acknowledge the man reported to be coming, what do you do? You reject your head; and it so, where is the body, and what will become of it?

* * * * * * *

If this people should consent to dispossess Br. Brigham Young as our Governor, they are just as sure to go to hell as they live, and I know it, for God would forsake them and leave them to themselves, and they would be in worse bondage than the children of Israel ever were.

Supposing this thing all blows over and they dont come up here, but they begin to flatter us and be friendly what will be the result? They may flatter as long as the earth stands, but I never will be subject to one of their damned pusillanimous cusses. The may court and flatter as much as they please, but I never will be subject to them again, no, never. Do you hear it? [Voices, "Yes,"] Do you think we will submit to them? No, never. They have cut the thread themselves

* * * * * * *

I have a right to say the gentiles shall never rule over me, although this people might admit of their coming here. I have a right to say also that we shall never be ruled over by them from this day forth, while grass grows or water runs; never, no, never.

[Voices, "Amen."]

Well, we have got to sustain these amens and we have got to sustain these vows. You, ladies, too, will certainly have to do your part or back out. I told you last Sunday to arm yourselves, and if you cannot do it in any other way, sell some of your fine bonnets, fine dresses, and buy yourselves a good dirk, a pistol, or some other instrument of war.

Arm your boys and arm yourselves universally and that, too, with the weapons of war, for we may be brought to the test, to see if we will stand up to the line.

* * * * * * *

We shall never leave these valleys—till we get ready; no, never, no, never. We will live here till we go back to Jackson county, Missouri. I prophecy that, in the name of Israel's God!

[The congregation thouted "Amen," and Pres B Young said, "it is true."]

If our enemies force us to destroy our orchards and our property; to destroy and lay waste our houses fields and everything else, we shall never build and plant again until we do it in Jackson county, But our enemies are not here yet, and we have not yet thrown down our houses.

Let me tell you that if God designs that Israel should know become free, they will come and strike the blow, and if he does not, they will not come. That is as true as that book (pointing to the Bible)

☞ The Springfield (Illinois) Journal says: According to notice, the assignees' sale of the Great Western Railroad was made at auction yesterday in front of the Court House. Mr Wm. Corneau, cashier of the road, was the nominal purchaser. The price at which it was struck off was only $1,100. What a farce, what a swindle! Thus our citizen, who in good faith took stock in the road and paid up the last instalment, now see all

CEMETERY.—Though all are agreed that we ought to have a new cemetery, yet the interest that was felt in the matter a few weeks ago, appears to have entirely subsided, and we do not hear of any steps being now taken in the matter. We direct the attention of our citizens to a communication on the subject on our first page.

Refusal of the City Treasurer to pay Money to the Free School!—The question of the legality of the action of our City Council in making an appropriation towards the building of the Free School is likely soon to be settled judicially. The Council, this week, issued an order to the Treasurer to pay over $3,500 into the hands of the School Trustees. This he refused, on the ground of doubts as to the legality of the appropriation, unless he could be secured by an indemnifying bond from responsible citizens. The security was tendered, but the Treasurer still refused to pay over. In the meantime Mr M. Jenkinson served out an injunction, restraining the Treasurer from paying over the money to the School Trustees; and the Council made application to have the injunction removed. The case is now pending; it is a most important one, and its decision will settle the question of the power of the Council to aid the Schools by making appropriations from the general funds of the city.

However the question may be decided, we cannot approve the course of the Treasurer. He has usurped an authority that we do not believe pertains to his office, and allowed himself to be used as a tool by the enemies of our School system. The money has been collected, and would be better paid out to the laborers and mechanics engaged in the erection of the School house, and who must be subjected to inconvenience and distress by its being witheld from them, than to remain in the hands of the Treasurer. His conscientious scruples in the matter are rather late in developing themselves:—if it is not lawful for him to pay over the money for the purpose for which it was levied, it certainly was not lawful for him to collect it; but we do not learn that he raised the slightest objection to the collection, although he now holds on to the money with such tenacity.

FOREIGN NEWS.—The Arabia arrived in New York yesterday. The most important item of intelligence is the capture of Delhi by the English. It was taken by assault, after six days hard fighting. The English loss was 600 men and 50 officers. Considerable reinforcements of British troops had arrived in Calcutta. Several failures had occurred in England and on the Continent, but the worst of the financial crisis is believed to be over.

The market for breadstuffs is reported dull, with a decline of 2s to 3s in flour, 4d to 6d in wheat, and 6d in corn.

New York City Election.—The result of the recent election in the city of New York is a glorious evidence of the progress of democratic principles, and a triumphant endorsement of the wise and patriotic course of Mr Buchanan and his cabinet. Here is the vote:

Democratic	36 903
Black Republican	13 812
American	8.062

Democratic majority over the Republicans over 23 000, and over both near 15 000. Last year Mr Buchanan's majority over all was but 4,000.

Maryland Election—Complete returns from the State give Hicks, Plug Ugly, 8 567 majority over Groome, democrat—Hicks 44,764, Groome 36,190. Three democrats and three K N are elected to Congress—a democratic gain of one. The Senate contains 15 K Ns and 7 democrats; House, 44 K Ns and 29 democrats. Burton, democrat is elected Judge of Court of Appeals in the 1st district.

The city of Baltimore, where Plug Ugly mob law reigns supreme, and democrats are not allowed to vote, elects two of the three K N members of Congress, and gives that party a heavier majority than they got in the whole state. If order could be maintained in that riotous city, and every man allowed to vote who is justly entitled to the right of suffrage, the vote of Maryland would be democratic.

New York Election.—The Albany Argus of Monday gives the Democratic majority as 13,135, a gain for Democrats since the Presidential election of 93,264! The Senate stands 14 Democrats, 15 Republicans, 1 Independent and 4 Americans. The Assembly 61 Democrats, 59 Republicans and 8 Americans.

WISCONSIN—The democratic majority for Governor in Wisconsin, is stated by the Milwaukie News to be 3000.

MINNESOTA—The St Paul Democrat claims the election of Henry H Sibley, dem. Governor, by a majority of from 300 to 400. The republicans had claimed the election of Ramsey; but by the latest and fullest returns it appears Sibley is the man. The whole democratic state ticket is elected, together with a majority in the Legislature of 3 in the Senate and 6 in the House.

Fort Wayne Western Railroad.—We are gratified in being able to state that, notwithstanding the pressure in financial matters, the work in Jasper Co on the western division of the Fort Wayne Western Railroad, is steadily progressing. By the end of this month twelve miles of the road will be completed ready for the iron, and what is better, the estimates for the work are all regularly paid up every month.

A company that can do this, at a time when the oldest and best established railroads are embarrassed for the want of means, cannot fail of success; and we look upon the early completion of the Fort Wayne Western Railroad as a fixed fact.

Another Change has been made in the time of the Pittsburgh, Ft Wayne, & Chic. R R. The trains now run as follows:

Express Train—Leaves Pittsburgh at 2:15 P M, Fort Wayne 5:35 A M; arrive at Chicago 1:00 P M. Returning, leaves Chicago at 6.00 A M, Fort Wayne 2:15 P M; arrives at Pittsburgh 6:00 A M.

Mail Train—Leaves Pittsburgh at 3:30 A M, Fort Wayne 7:50 P M; arrives at Chicago 8:30 A M. Returning, leaves Chicago at 8:45 P M. Fort Wayne 5:30 A M; arrives at Pittsburgh 8:50 P M.

Gen Walker off for Nicaragua.—Gen Walker slipped off from New Orleans on the 11th inst. with a band of 400 men, 1000 stand of arms, and a full supply of ammunition and provisions. His destination is Nicaragua.

Sorghum Molasses.—We are indebted to Mr. T M Andrews of Perry Township, for a bottle of rich thick syrup made by him from the juice of the Chinese Sugar Cane. It is of excellent quality and flavor, fully equal to the best sugar-house molasses or syrup. Mr A. feels satisfied that the cultivation of the cane and manufacture of molasses can be profitably carried on here, and purposes next year to go more extensively into the business.

He erected a mill for grinding and pressing the cane, consisting of three vertical wooden rollers, geared together, and worked by a horse attached to a sweep. With this mill he extracted 40 gallons juice per hour. The juice was boiled and clarified according to the method published in the Sentinel on the 17th of October last. Four pounds of stalks yielded 1 quart of juice, and 7 quarts of juice made 1 of thick syrup. The cane on a square rod of Mr Andrew's ground made 2 gallons of syrup.

We have strong reasons to hope, from the success which has attended the cultivation of the cane this season, that the time is not distant when Indiana will raise not only all the sugar and molasses required for home consumption, but also a considerable surplus for export.

Railroad Riot.—We hear that considerable disturbance occurred at Columbia two or three days ago, caused by a number of laborers employed on the Pitts, Ft W & Chic R R and whose wages were considerably in arrear. Their demand for payment not being complied with, they took forcible possession of the paymaster's car, and expressed a determination to hold it until their claims were paid. After some considerable difficulty, and a display of revolvers, knives, and other weapons, the rioters were finally driven off. We do not learn that any one was seriously injured in the melee.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.—A singular circumstance occurred on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne, & Chicago Railroad, on Tuesday night last. When the night train, coming west, was about 7 miles this side of Upper Sandusky, a little boy seven or eight years of age, who was with his parents on their way to the west, suddenly started up in his sleep, went out of the car, and either fell or jumped off—the train at the time being under full speed. The mother soon after awoke and missed the boy, and on inquiry a passenger informed her he had seen him go out of the car, but being nearly asleep did not pay any attention. The agonized parents gave the alarm, and the train was backed as far as Upper Sandusky, but as no trace of the boy could be found, it was supposed he was killed and thrown off the track. The parents were left at Nevada to make further search, and in the course of an hour were gladdened by having their boy restored to them, alive and almost unhurt. He stated that the first thing he remembered he was laying on the track, he got up and walked towards Sandusky; when the train returned he felt alarmed and got off the track until they passed, and then resuming his walk, crossed the long and dangerous railroad bridge and reached Upper Sandusky. Mr Kelly immediately dispatched a hand car with the boy to Nevada, and restored him to his parents, who were in a state bordering on distraction at his supposed melancholy fate, and whose joy at his safe return may be more easily imagined than described. The only injury he received in his perilous adventure was a slight scratch and bruise on the forehead. It was truly a miraculous escape.

☞ The repairs on the Maumee Bridge are now completed, and teams can again cross it in safety. An entire new pier has been erected under the centre of the bridge, and, unlike most similar works here, it has been done in a thorough substantial manner. The crib is made of good sound oak, well and strongly framed together by Mr. W Barger, and will be filled to high water mark with stone—forming a structure which must endure for many years. The work was done under the vigilant superintendence of F. D. Lasselle, one of our County Commissioners, who deserves great credit for making a good and durable job.

Stoves and Tinware.—Nettlehorst & Co. have on hand a large and excellent assortment of stoves of all kinds and patterns, from the best foundries in the country, which they sell at the lowest rates. They also keep on hand and make to order every thing in the tin, sheet iron, and copper line. They are prompt, liberal, and accommodating in all their dealings, and richly deserve a liberal share of public patronage.

☞ We direct the attention of our female readers to the advertisement for Le Bon-Ton Journal, which is perhaps the best and only reliable journal of fashions in the country. Each number is embellished with two or more exquisitely engraved and colored fashion plates, got up in Paris, expressly for this work; two patterns cut on tissue paper accompany each number. Published by S T. Taylor, 407 Broadway, N. York. Terms—monthly, $5 00 per annum; bi-monthly $3 00; single numbers 25 cents.

Amateur Performance.—The Fort Wayne Dramatic Amateurs, assisted by Charley Reynolds and his talented lady, will give a theatrical performance at Colerick's Hall on Tuesday evening next, on which occasion Shakspeare's celebrated tragedy of Othello will be presented. The dramatic talent of the young gentleman who takes the arduous character of Othello is highly spoken of.

Drawing School.—Mr A Sutermeister proposes opening a Drawing School in this city as soon as a sufficient number of pupils can be obtained. We are informed that he is quite an artist, and well qualified to give instructions in all branches of this useful and ornamental acquirement.

Our European Correspondence.

HEIDLBERG, on the Necker, in Baden,
October 19, 1857,

MR. TIGAR,

Dear Sir,—I wrote you a hurried scrawl, on 24th ultimo from St Goar on the Rhine. Soon after my departure from the land of my birth the home of my youth, and the grave of that beloved parent, who early initiated into my young mind lessons of moral rectitude, self-reliance, and a faith in that God who has prospered and blessed me in a thousand ways, notwithstanding my waywardness and transgression against his laws; yes sir, Ireland is to me as it is to most of the sons of that lovely isle, ever dear. Whatever affects its inhabitants, shall while I am permitted to remain on earth, have in my heart a feeling response. I shall never forget the kind receptions I recently met there; sometimes among those, who could but ill afford it; from many who knew me in my youth, from others who knew the family of whom I am one of the descendants; yes sir, I deeply feel for the situation of many of its inhabitants. There I met the extremes of wealth and poverty. What a field is there open for the land proprietors to do good if they would, (and I confess I cannot but think it would in the end promote their pecuniary interest), by giving their tenantry long leases, encouraging under-drainage and other improvements of the soil of which its stands so much in need, particularly in the north, and also by remaining on their estates, spending their income among that class from whose labor and toil it is raised, in place of living abroad letting other countries receive the benefit of that income which should be used at home; and on setting the poor a good example of frugality so little practiced there.—The man of wealth has a thousand ways by which he could do good to those around him and in the end be benefitted by it. A few good men do so act, which appears like an oasis in a desert, throwing around them the gratitude and esteem of all within their aid. But the instances are few.

Pardon this digression from what you expected—my observations of Belgium as I passed rapidly over it, which I promised in my last to give you. Having taken leave of my native land for ever, I cannot but give expression to some of the feelings my recent visit there created. And, while I feel confident no man is more devoted to my adopted country and its institutions than I am, nor I trust more grateful to that God who guided my youthful wandering to that favored land, I hope none will think me less worthy of that proud position, an American citizen, for feeling as I do for my native country.

We arrived at Ostend, in Belgium, on 16th Sept, at night, and presented our passport and trunks for examination; they were but slightly examined, and in an hour our baggage, at a cost of about $1 50, was sent up to our Hotel. I was up early and visited the market, which was well supplied with vegetables of all kinds, and an abundant variety of fruits, such as grapes, pears, apples, and the universal plum, which seems so much cultivated throughout Germany, and which seems to me like the damson, if not the same. The town is low and the streets generally very narrow. I should suppose it contain 13,000 to 14,000 inhabitants; I was told more, but this I doubted, although I was there at the time of the greatest resort. It stands on an angle between the open sea and harbor (which is a made one) and even on the land side nearly surrounded by water, which is controlled by sluices; indeed the land around the town is very low and level. It is a very strongly fortified place, surrounded by ramparts and broad ditches, the cannon commanding every approach. To me, the sea-wall, faced with stones, 40 feet high, and paved on top with hard brick, forming as it does a public promenade of half a mile, and commanding an extensive sea and beach view was a point of the most attraction. This town is a favorite watering place for the wealthy Belgians, often resorted to by their truly popular King and his family, of whom the people speak in terms of highest praise. To me their numerous bathing houses on wheels, drawn out by horses so far as to be deep enough to bathe, with the floors dry to enable you to undress and dress, and from which steps descend to the water, were very curious. I was on the wall just as the water had advanced on the strand, and saw ladies and gentlemen indulging in that luxury. Their bathing dresses, which I am informed are regulated by the police,—seem peculiarly adapted; I was however much amused to see so many intelligent and respectable looking gentlemen watching from the bathing house pavilion the agility of the ladies in dipping under the gentle surge of the tide as it approached them. There they sat, sipping their coffee or smoking their long pipes, enjoying the scene before them, and the breezes from the ocean.

Here I also saw what they call oyster-parks, reservoirs of sea water filled with oysters from the English coast, and fattened it is said, at this point for the French and German markets,—by what other process than the water of the ocean I did not learn. From the extent of these ponds (parks they are called) it must be a business of some amount.

From Ostend we took railroad to Brussels, passing a very level and highly cultivated country. The hops in many places seem extensively planted, and this year at least, very productive: but the price is so much reduced as to render that crop this season far from remunerative.—On our route we passed the ancient city of Bruges, which is also connected with Ostend by canal.—We should have stopped and visited this city of ancient note, the emporium of European commerce during the middle ages. Remains of its ancient grandeur, we are told, still exist. It was long the residence of the Counts of Flanders and also of the Dukes of Burgundy. It seems now to be of little importance as a place of business. It has had its day of ascendency, and like all things earthly must have its decline. We were also unfortunate in passing Ghent without stopping.—the city of Europe during the time of Charles the 5th. The truth is, I knew so little of Europe, that many places were passed by us on our route, of great historical interest, until we got to the Seat of Government of Belgium, where we remained three days. This city we were all much delighted with. It is divided into an upper and lower town; the upper town is the most beautiful, and from its high position and thorough drainage must be very healthy. It contains the King's palace, the Chambers or Parliament rooms, and principal hotels. The lower town abounds in buildings of ancient splendor, formerly the residence of Brabant nobles, but now occupied as places of business. Here we found the French language the most generally spoken and had to get what is called a commissioner, or one who attends and speaks to and from you to others—what we call an interpeter. The King being from home, we found some of his servants not only willing but anxious to show us the palace,—as our party was large their payment would be the more. The building was not as magnificent as we expected. It was very splendidly furnished, containing many beautiful paintings. In this building the great Napoleon planned his unfortunate Russian campaign. We visited the town hall, and churches, in which were said to be some of the best works of the ancient masters; but of this, while I speak of paintings, I want you to bear in mind I give you the opinion of others, for I have no capacity for judgment. The picture gallery in the town hall has seven works said to be by Reubens among them the coronation of the Virgin seems the most beautiful. Here we saw the palace (now in the market space) once occupied by Maria Therese. We also visited, within the the small church, the tomb of the accomplished and virtuous wife of Leopold, the devoted christian lady, full of charity and more than human kindness for her fellow creatures, the affectionate daughter of Louis Philippe, late King of the French. She has truly left behind her a name worthy of imitation by the Queens of the earth. The husband, who still remains a widower, is building to her memory a most costly and beautiful chapel, to which, when completed, her mortal remains are to be removed. To the citizens of Brussels the Botanic Garden and park must be attractive, and of great benefit—open to all, rich and poor. The park is a large enclosure in the upper town, laid out in walks, shaded by magnificent trees, and ornamented with statuary. It is truly a blessing to the poor to have such a beautiful retreat,—sitting at these clear fountains, jetting the water up a considerable distance, and inhaling so pure an atmosphere. We also visited the house once occupied by the Duchess of Richmond where she gave her grand dancing party to the Duke of Wellington and his officers, on the eve of the battle of Waterloo. We also visited the most extensive lace-manufactory, which interested the younger branches of our charge. The numerous places visited, however, lessened some the the weight of our purse, for in this country you cannot speak to a man, asking a question, who does not expect to be paid for it. We were truly gratified with our visit to this city, which has many other attractions that I have not named; and no doubt many we did not see.

I was going to describe to you, as well as I could, my first German dinner at one of their fashionable hotels; but I must desist, as I have been too lengthy already and I fear tedious and uninteresting. The truth is, so fully am I aware of my total unfitness to write you interestingly of the countries we visit, that was it not I promised you, I would decline it. As I am not one who has ever made any profession of literary attainments, I trust the few miscellaneous thoughts which I offer, will be sparingly criticised and charitably received. I may therefore continue them until I return to that spot on earth most conducive to my happiness and contentment—Fort Wayne.

ALLEN HAMILTON.

The Next House of Representatives—The next House will contain one hundred and thirty one Democrats, ninety two Black Republicans, and fourteen Know Nothings. This includes the three members from Minnesota, who will undoubtedly be promptly admitted. The last House contained but seventy six Democratic members, making a gain from the opposition of fifty five. The Democrats will have a majority of eleven over both Black Republicans and Know Nothings, if there should be no defection or secession from our ranks.

FT. WAYNE, October 30th, 1857.

Mr Editor:

At a meeting of the State Teacher's Association, at Richmond last fall, a committee was appointed to ascertain from the various important and accessible points what the people were disposed to do toward establishing normal schools in the State of Indiana.

I need scarcely say that normal schools are schools for training teachers specifically for the work of teaching. The paucity of first-rate teachers is a fact well known and deeply deplored by all persons conversant with and interested in educational affairs. We have schools for training lawyers, doctors, and ministers specially for the work they have to perform, and unless they have gone through a course of preparation in some of these institutions, or got the necessary instructions in some other way, men are disposed to regard and treat them as poorly qualified for their work: and can it be expected that teachers without any previous training beyond the mere acquisition for knowledge (and sometimes a scarcity of that), can enter upon and properly and efficiently discharge the duties of one of the most important and responsible positions which any human being can occupy?

Knowledge is one and only one of the qualifications necessary to an efficient teacher; but in order to get the benefit of a normal school, the teacher who has obtained such knowledge as ordinary schools can give, must go to Ohio or Michigan, or some of the sister States, where there is more intelligence and educational spirit. Why cannot Indiana make its own teachers, and as good ones too as can be procured from any other state? Ought not Fort Wayne to have one of these normal schools, so that Allen Co may reap some of the benefits? Our public school is doing its work, and doing it pretty well; but the public school cannot do everything. A very promising normal class has already been formed from the pupils of the public school, to which the Superintendent devotes extra time on Saturdays, but this can only remove the difficulty to a small extent.

Ought we to have one of these state normal schools in Fort Wayne? The city and surrounding country need it.

THE SOCIAL BAND.

Song and Chorus—composed and dedicated to the PENDAGGER CLUB of Fort Wayne, Indiana.

BY ISAAC JENKINSON, ESQ

TUNE—"The Happy Man"

We worship not at Bacchus' shrine,
In revel or carousal,
Nor sing the praise of rosy wine,
When beauty meets espousal,
For these we find debase the mind,
And lead to greater sinning;
But purer far those pleasures are,
That we are hourly winning.
But purer far those pleasures are
That we are hourly winning.

Nor do we bow at Beauty's shrine,
With love's consuming fever,
Nor own the power, though 'tis divine,
That lies in Cupid's quiver;
For woman's smile will oft beguile,
And lead the heart a sinning,
And purer joys Pendagger boys
Are daily, hourly, winning.
And purer joys, &c.

Bound fast in friendship's golden bands,
Our social hearts united,
Pendagger, as a symbol stands
For every pleasure plighted,
How pure the joy, Pendagger boys,
In social circles meeting,
When every heart is counterpart
In other heart is greeting
When every heart &c.

Fort Wayne, Nov 14th, 1857

NEW ORLEANS, NOV. 10.

The Tennessee, from Vera Cruz, on the 7th, has arrived. She brings over a million in specie. Her dates from Vera Cruz are to the 6th, from Mexico to the 4th. The political guarantees of the new Constitution are suspended, and Comonfort was clothed with dictatorial powers. Martial law was proclaimed in the district of Cuernabaca, in consequence of difficulties between the Spanish and Mexican citizens. Alvarez was still successful against the rebels in the South.

Later.—Yucatan and Campeachy have surrendered to the Government forses. The revolution had taken new life, and the whole people were in arms.

Gen Walker was arrested late last night on an affidavit of the Custom House officers, and was immediately admitted to bail in $2,000. It will probably not interfere with his plans.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 11.

Advices from Fort Laramie to the 22d inst., state that Col Cook's command—second draggoons were four miles this side, and had encountered a snow storm five days previously.

Col Johnson, when last heared from was 230 miles beyond Laramie. The snow was seven inches deep 100 miles this side, where the express left him.

Owing to the slim supply of corn, and entire absence of grass, the terms and dragoon horses are failing fast.

News had reached Laramie that the Mormons had burned a train of 75 wagons near Green River, 190 miles behind Col Alexander's command which constitutes that van of General Army. It was rumored that the 5th and 10th infantry, batteries, and the artillery would take possession of the Mormon village at Bear River for winter quaters.

NEW YORK, Nov 9.

Money Matters.—There is a better feeling in business and money matters are improving slowly but surely. Six of our city banks are ready to resume specie payments, and others are gradually coming into the line.

The Lodi Print Works, in New Jersey, expect to resume business next week, with from 300 to 500 hands.

The specie statement to night will show $14,000,000 specie in bank.

Four banks were thrown out today by the Metropolitan; the Western Bank, of Lockport; Powell Bank, of Newburg; Cheming County Bank and Ontario County Bank of Phelps.

The business to day at the Clearing House was nearly $15,000,000 clearings, and upwards of $900,000 balances.

Our weekly bank statement shows an increase in all articles, viz: In loans, $548,487; specie, $3 608,711; circulation, $99,405; deposits, $7,421,109. The total specie is $16,492,152; deposits, $68,881,773.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.

The workingmen held more meetings to-day and a committee of the body had an interview with Mayor Wood, who advised them to meet peaceably Monday night, and to go to the Common Council, and see what they would do for them. The crowd outside, on the return of the committee, gave three cheers for Mayor Wood, and dispersed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.

The "hunger" mob are getting turbulent, and fears are entertained of an outbreak. They gathered in front of the City Hall to day, calling the Mayor a "humbug," and threatening to drag him from his office. A squad of fifty Metropolitan Police was sent for, when the crowd dispersed. At 3 o'clock the gates of the City Hall were closed and guarded, in consequence of certain threats thrown out by the mob. Assistant Treasurer Cisco has telegraphed to Washington for authority to use the government troops on Governor's Island and at the Navy Yard, if needed, to guard the United States funds in the Sub Treasury and the banks. Marshal Rynders has also telegraphed to the same effect.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.

There was another gathering in Tompkins' Square this morning. Speeches were made, not, however, of an incendiary character. There were, also, about a thousand persons in the Park, but the police would allow no speech making.

There is a strong force of police inside of the City Hall, and it is said that a regiment holds itself in readiness at any outbreak, though they are no signs of one.

Both boards and the common council have acted on the Mayor's message in preference to the unemployed poor. The Aldermen resolved not to adopt the suggestions to procure large supplies of food. They, however, passed resolutions having for their object the employment of the poor. The councilmen also reported that they had not the power to provide relief in the direct manner pointed out by the Mayor; they, however, passed resolutions urging on the different boards having charge of the public works to employ laborers, and also recommend the Governor of the Alms House to purchase a store of provisions in anticipation of destitution among the laboring classes.

BOSTON, Nov. 7.

Meetings of Unemployed Workingmen.—Pursuant to a call in the papers, a large meeting of mechanics, and laboring men assembled on the Common here this p. m. Several speeches were made and resolutions passed strongly urging upon the city authorities to take immediate measures to prevent from 2,000 to 3,000 people from actual starvation. Two large banners were were displayed, on which was printed the following: "We ask not alms but work, that our wives and children may not starve;" "Peace and good will is our motto."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.

The Secretary of War received to day a despatch, dated Ft. Leavenworth. Intelligence had been received to the effect that the Mormons were calling into Salt Lake all their force from the surrounding country, and were organizing to resist the U. S. troops. Orders had been sent to Gen. Harney, to remain at Fort Leavenworth for the present. In case the Mormons resist our troops, another large force under the command of Harney will be immediately ordered to Utah.

The Department has just received despatches confirmatory of previous reports that the Mormons are bent on resistance of the U. S. troops. Appointments of the army and general preparations are such that no fears are entertained for the result.

The Administration had received no very important despatches in relation to the events in Central America or Costa Rican movements. No matter what other governments may do in regard to those affairs, ours will pursue an independent American policy without entangling alliances.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.

Orders were issued to day for the immediate concentration of the Marine Corps stationed at Boston, Philadelphia and Washington, to protect the Sub-Treasury properly at New York, from rioters. If necessary, all the available army will also be ordered for the same duty. Col. Harris commanding the Marine Corps at Brooklyn, who was here on special duty, went to New York to night under orders to report to Gen Scott forthwith.

Mr. Mason has forwarded to the State Department his resignation of the French mission, to take effect in January.

It is rumored that Frassari is to be received as Minister from Nicaragua to morrow. The statement is discredited, though possible true. Much misapprehension exists in regard to the view of the Administration on the Tehuantepec question.

Mexico has offered to extend, for a large pecuniary consideration the rights which the United States acquired under the Gadsden Treaty. Connected with that subject the correspondence will be transmitted to Congress.

The Frauds in Kansas—By Whom Perpetrated.—The Leavenworth City correspondent of the Cincinnati Times says, the bogus returns from the Oxford precinct, were made up of names in one hand writing, and that the strip of paper measured fifty four feet in length. All the names except one hundred and twenty, were copied from "Williams's Cincinnati Directory." It is now believed that the fraud was perpetrated by the 'free state' people themselves, for effect and with a view of charging it upon their opponents, thereby involving them in difficulty.

Election Outrage.—At St Paul, Minn, on election day, an armed band of black republican ruffians took possession of the polls of one the wards, and, with revolvers and knives, drove off and kept from voting some two or three hundred legal voters.

General Walker.—This evening's Post states, on good authority, that Gen. Walker will sail this week from New Orleans for Nicaragua, with 1,500 troops in a fine steamer, with plenty of ammunition and provisions. Colonel Duncan, of the U. S. Army, goes out to command the artilery.

Disastrous Floods at the East.—The telegraph brings accounts of disastrous floods throughout the State of New York. The Erie and Central Railroads were submerged and much damage done. We give the following items:

At Elmira on the 10th, the river was very high, and still rising. The water ran over the New York and Erie Railroad bridges and it is feared the bridge will give way every moment. The track at Corning is washed away and no trains can pass that place. Corning is nearly under water, and some buildings have gone down the river.

At Rochester great damage has been done, and farther up the Genessee valley. At Damsville, eight dams and six bridges were swept away on the night of the 9th.

The river is very high and still rising. Numerous culverts, on the New York Central Railroad between Rochester and Syracuse, have been washed away.

The track is inundated in many places, and no trains can pass.

At Williamsport, Penn, the Susquehanna has risen ten feet, and is still rising.

Two bad breaks have occurred on the New York canal, near Palmyra and Newark. It will require five days to repair the damage.

Baltimore Congressman Elect.—The States, a Democratic paper at Washington, thinks that Congress will not permit the newly elected Baltimore Congressmen to take their seats. It says: "There was no election in Baltimore, and the appearance of two members Messrs Davis and Brooks, before Congress, will, we imagine, rather inform the mob of that city, that holding the ballot-box with one hand, and shooting off a revolver with the other, to intimidate, kill, and keep off a large portion of the citizens, is not the form of election which is regarded as legal and constitutional. In view of the facts there can scarcely be adoubt of the rejection of Messrs. Davis and Brooks' by Congress. Such a constitutional act will worthily commence the session of a Democratic Congress. Thus, at least, may some of the results of rowdyism be checked."

Michigan Southern and Northern Indiana Railroad.—We were informed this morning, by the President of this Company, that the contract between them and the Michigan Central Company, alluded to us in progress of negotiation, in the recent report of their Executive Committee, had been consummated; and that he estimated this contract, together with other measures of administrative improvement in the affairs of the Company inaugurated by the new Board, as equivalent to a net gain, on a business equal that of the current year, of at least five hundred thousand dollars.

The new board have entered upon their duties with a business purpose to make the institution useful to the stockholders: and tho' many of them were strangers to each other, they have pursued their object with that unanimity and practical good sense that promises all that can be done to bring the company out of its present embarrassments. They have frankly called on the stockholders to render the aid they need in this emergency—and if properly responded to, this important institution promises to be highly beneficial to its owners, as well as eminently useful to the public.—N. Y. Post.

We understand that Mr John M. Forbes, of Boston, who went to England to negotiate the proposed new loan for the Michigan Central Railroad, has been enabled to raise £400,000 for that purpose. In the present condition of the money market this must be considered as a great success, and is a proof of the continued confidence of English capitalists in this road.—

Now is the Time to Seek Relief from the Evils of Bank Paper—The evils of the Banking system are being burnt in the hearts of men at the present by personal sufferings. There is scarcely a family in the land that does not feel the blow struck at all the sources of industry and prosperity, by this breaking down of the paper currency system. Now, therefore, is the time to look for some infallible means to insure exemption from like revulsions in the future. There need be no measures adopted to reach the desires end. Paper money can be gradually withdrawn from circulation, and gold and silver substituted. This was done when the small notes were banished from our State. Then, as now, the weak and timid advocates of a paper currency proclaimed the doctrine that there was not gold and silver coin sufficient to fill the channels of trade in our State. But what was the result? Simultaneously with the disappearance of paper, gold and silver came forth in abundance to meet all the wants of legitimate trade. And so it would be if the banks were restricted in their issues to notes of twenty dollars, or even fifty. The absence of paper currency is the sure herald of the appearance of the precious metals.—Pennsylvanian.

Death of Crawford, the Sculptor.—The American Sculptor. Crawford, reports of whose hopeless condition from a cancer in the eye, have excited painful interest in this country for months past, died on the 10th inst., in London. He was a man of fine genius and character.

PROCLAMATION.

The custom which has long prevailed, of the people of the State assembling annually, to return their thanks to Almighty God for his watchful care over the welfare of our prosperous Commonwealth, is one which commends itself to the enlightened judgment of all men. We have more than ordinary occasion to be grateful for the abundant harvest, preserved health, and continued peace which have been vouchsafed to us during the present year. I therefore appoint Thursday, the 26th day of November, 1857, as a day of Thanksgiving and Prayer, and invite all good citizens to abstain from their secular pursuits on that day, return their thanks for the favors received, and unitedly invoke the blessings of God for the future, upon our beloved State and Nation.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto [L.S.] set my hand, and caused to be affixed the Seal of the State of Indiana, this, the 10th day of November, A D. 1857; the 42d year of the State, and of the Independence of the United States, the eighty second. By the Governor,

ASHBEL P. WILLARD.

☞ Advanced years often causes us to feel the necessity of a resort to some artificial means, by which to rally and restore temporary strength and bring to our impaired faculties, which is most effectually done by the use of Hostetter's celebrated Stomach Bitters, before meals. One wine glass used as per direction on the bottle, or in smaller quantities, if the person is weak in body, will convince the most credulous of its restorative effects, to which thousands can testify who used it for years, and under no circumstance could be persuaded to do without it. Ladies, especially, have found meritorious benefits resulting from every use of it. For sale by druggists generally.

Dr. Cavanaugh's PILE SALVE

here or elsewhere for the Piles, and the result of years of patient study and investigations.

Sufferers from Piles now have a remedy at hand which will

Stand the Test of Trial,

without the fair of failure on its part to do all the proprietor claims for it,

Full directions accompanying each box; and all that is requisite is strictly to observe them, and a cure is certain to follow.

The proprietor refers to the following testimonials from gentlemen of character and standing; who have voluntarily given their certificates in its favor in regard to its efficacy in their own cases. Read them

The following is from one of the most reliable citizens of Chicago, the late Treasurer of Cook County, Illinois:

Chicago, July 25, 1855.

Dr. Cavanaugh:—Dear Sir,—I wish hereby to make known to the afflicted that I have been troubled with the Piles for twenty years and upwards and at times most severely. And during a recent and exceedingly painful attack a friend procured a box of your Salve, and asked me to give it a trial I did so; not however with the expectation of benefitting my disease, for truly, I had tried so many applications I had lost confidence in all. But in making use of your Salve, I soon found that is was doing me good; and really it is incredible to myself, that with only about two weeks' use of your Salve, I am so far as I can judge a well man.

I most carefully make this statement, believing it due both to yourself and such as may be afflicted with this most painful and trying disease. I do not hesitate to say that I consider your preparation an invaluable remedy for the Piles.

Most sincerely youre, N N. HEALD.

The Hon Richard Yates, late member of Congress from the Springfield, Ill., district, says:

Jacksonville, Ill., Nov. 15, 1855.

Dr. Thos. H. Cavanaugh.—Dear Sir,—The preparation, Cavanaugh's Pile Salve, which you furnished, I found of great service, producing an easy and speedy cure I do not hesitate to recommend it as an invaluable remedy for the Piles been for you and your wife's provident charity. I was repulsed from every door as an imposter, and could get neither food or rest. To be an exile from one's native land ten years and then after escaping from the perils of the ocean to die of hunger in the streets of a Christian city, I felt was a bitter fate.

"My name is Authur Willet," added the stranger.

"Why, that is my wife's family name. She will be pleased at her agency in your recovery."

"Of what state is she a native?" asked Arthur Willet eagerly.

"I married her in the town of B——, where she was born."

At this moment Mrs. Maywood entered the room, surprised at the long absence of her husband.

Arther Willet gazed at her with a look of wild surprise, murmuring:

"It cannot be—it cannot be, I am delirious to think so.

Mrs. Maywood gazed with little less astonishment.

"What painful mystery is this?" cried doctor Maywood, excitedly, addressing his wife, who then became conscious of the singularity of her conduct.

"Oh, no mystery, she replied, sighing deeply, "only this stranger is the image of my long lost brother, Arthur." And Mrs. Maywood, over come with emotion, turned to leave the room.

"Stay one moment," pleaded the stranger, drawing a small mourning ring from his finger, and holding it up, asked if she recognized that relic

"It is my father's grey hair and you are——"

"His son, Arthur Willet, and your brother."

Mary Willet Maywood fell upon the mendicant's breast, weeping tears of sweetest joy and thanksgiving.

Doctor Maywood retired from the room and left sister and brother alone in that sacred hour of re union, saying to himself:

"Be not forgetful to entertain strangers, for thereby some have entertained angles unawares."

Morrible Massacre of Emigrants—Over One Hundred Persons Killed.

J Ward Christian writes to the Los Angeles Star as follows:

SAN BERNARDINO, Sunday, Oct 4, 1857.

I take this opportunity of informing you of the murder of an entire train of emigrants, on their way from Missouri and Arkansas th this State, via Great Salt Lake City, which took place, according to the best information I can possibly acquire, (which is, primarily, through Indians,) at the mountain Meadows, which are at or near the rim of the Great Basin, and some distance south of the most southern Mormon settlements, between the 10th and 12th ult. It is absolutely one of the most horrible massacres I have ever had the painful necessity of relating.

The company consisted of one hundred and thirty or one hundred and thirty five men, women and children, and including some forty or forty five capable of bearing arms. They were in possession of quite an amount of stock, consisting of horses, mules, and oxen. The encampment was attacked about daylight in the morning, so say the Indians, by the combined forces of all the various trices immediately in that section of the country. It appears that the majority of them were slain at the first onset made by the Indians.

The remaining force forced themselves into the best position their circumstances would allow; but before they could make the necessary arrangements for protecting themselves from the arrows, there were but few left who were able to bear arms

After having corralled their wagons and dug a ditch for their protection, they continued to fire upon the Indians for one or two days; but the Indians had so secreted themselves that, according to their own statement, there was not one of them killed, and but few wounded. They (the emigrants) then sent out a flag of truce, borne by a little girl, and gave themselves up to the mercy of the savages, who immediately rushed in and slaughtere all of them, with the exception of fifteen infant children that have since been purchased, with some difficulty, by the Mormon interpreters.

I presume it would be unnecessary for all practical purposes to relate the causes which gave rise to the above described catastrophe, from the simple fact that it will be attributed to the Mormon people, let the circumstances of the case be what they may.

It seems, from a statement which I received from Elders Wm Mathew and Wm Hyde, who were in Great Salt Lake City at the time this train was there, recruiting their "fit out," and were on the road to this place at the time when they were murdered, but several days' journey in the rear—somewhere about the Beaver Mountains, which is between Parawan and Fillmore cities—that the causes were something like these: The train camped at Corn Creek, near Fillmore City, where there is an Indian village, the inhabitants of which have raised a crop of wheat and a few melons, &c. And in trading with the Indians they gave them cash for wheat, and they, not knowing the value of coin, were severely cheated. They wanted a blanket for a sack of wheat, but they gave them fifty cents, and told them that amount would buy a blanket.

They also had an ox with them which had died, and they put strychnine in him, for the purpose of poisoning the Indians; also put poison of some description id the water, which is standing in holes. This occasioned several deaths among them within a few days after the departure of the train. And upon this, it seems, the Indians gathered themselves together, and had no doubt chosen the place of attack, and arranged everything before the train arrived at the place where they were murdered.

It was ascertained from some of the interpreters, from a few of the Indians who were left at Caro Creek, that most of the Indians in the country had left; but they could not learn for what purpose, and before any steps could be taken to ascertain for certain what was the cause, the story was told—they were all killed.

Yours, truly,
J. WARD CHRISTIAN.

Resurrectionists.—The people of Chicago have been astonished, by the discovery that their City Sexton, has been engaged in robbing the graves of their dead. Suspicions having been excited that such a work was going on, a private police was employed to detect the depredators After some nights of patient watching, they discovered a wagon with three men in it. The night being intensely dark, they succended in arresting but one of the men, who proved to be Martin Quinlan, the City Sexton. In the wagon were two corpses stowed into canvass bags, similar to those used for carrying newspayers by mail. One of the refugees was afterwards apprehended and proved to be a medical student.

A Fast Town.—The St. Paul Advertiser says at the present time there is not less than $600,000 of overdue and protested paper deposited by Eastern creditors in the banks of that city; that the indebtedness in St. Paul to banks alone due or to become due in the next six months, is $750,000 more; while the eastern indebtedness of the merchants and others to mature in the same period is $1,200,000. That is, the city owes $2,500.000, of which $1,500.000 is due to the East. Other towns in the Territory are similarly involved.

Fire in the Chimney.—In cases of fire in the chimney, it is an excellent plan to put salt on the fire in the grate below, as it acts chemically on the flames soot above. This has been found to extinguish the fire in a short time, and deserves to be more generally known.

☞ The Albany, N. Y., Atlas and Argus states that eleven ably conducted newspapers of that State, that supported Fremont last fall, are now bravely working for the restoration of the Democracy to power.

☞ The Postmaster General has recently decided, that if the Postmasters do not give publishers of newspapers notice when their papers remain in the Postoffice without being taken out by the subscribers within five weeks, they are liable for the pa—.

☞ John C. Fremont was initiated into the Know Nothing Order at the City of Washington in 1855. A recent quarrel in the Lodge which took him "in out of the wet" has brought this fact to light. His signature is said to be remarkably bold.

☞ During the three months ending 30th September last, there arrived at Liverpool from the United States 2,769 returned emigrants.

'Good morning, Jones. How does the world use you?' "It uses me up, thank you."

Quit Drinking Poisonous Liquors.

PATENT IMPROVED PROCESS

FOR MAKING ALL KINDS OF

Liquors and Vinegar,

INSTANTLY, by the use of

LACOUR'S ESSENTIAL OILS.

THESE OILS are obtained by Distillation at the Chemical Laboratory, Parish of Jefferson, of PIERRE LACOUR, author of Lacour's Chemical Analysis, Lacour's Chemical Manipulations, Lacour on the Manufacture of Liquors, &c.

Purchasers are particularly requested to return the flasks and obtain their money, if the Oil does not give perfect satisfaction.

LACOUR'S OIL OF COGNAC converts neutral spirit to a superior imitation of Imported Brandies, viz: Otard, Sazerac, Murett Cognac, Poulney, Seignette, United Vineyard Proprietors, Castillon and London Dock Brandies. These Liquors will have a fine fruitly flavor and a beautiful sparkling color. Common Rectified Whisky will be changed by the use of the Oil of Cognac to New York Brandy Pine Apple Brandy, Common Cognac Brandy. &c

LACOUR'S OIL OF RYE changes Rectified Whisky to Monongahela Rye Whisky, Old Virginia Malt Whisky, Bourbon Whisky, &c.

OIL OF CEDRAT changes common Rectifier Whiskey to Old Irish Malt Whisky, and a superior pride of Scotch Whisky.

OIL OF PEACH changes common Whisky to Virginia Peach Brandy, &c Oil of Peach and Oil of Cognac will convert common Whisky to Apple Brandy.

OIL OF GIN converts the poorest Whisky to Holland Gin, Scheidam Schnapps, Rose Gin, Swan Gin, English Gin, &c.

LACOUR'S CONCENTRATED ACID will, in five hours after being mixed, change five gallons of good Vinegar and twenty five gallons of water to thirty gallons of the most acid Vinegar that can be found in the market. By the use of Lacour's Concentrated Acid, vinegar can be made for one dollar and sixty cents per barrel.

FOR MAKING LIQUORS, Lacour's Oils require no preparation—only pour the Oil into the Whisky and shake well. The Liquors thus made will have a fine natural aroma, a full rich oily taste, a beautiful transparent color, and a fine beading. Lacour's Oils exert three distinct properties in converting common Whisky to Brandy, Gin, &c. The first property combines with and subsides in the form of flocculent particles the whole of the grain oil (very little Alcohol) The Whisky is thus depressed of the peculiar irritating and burning taste, and becomes a neutral spirit; the second property consists in an oily mucillaginous taste imparted to the liquor, which renders it mellow and imparts an appearance of great age; the third property is exhibited in the rich vinous nutty odor that is imparted to the liquor, which renders distinction from the genuine brands impossible.

These oils are put up in quart flasks; each flask contains sufficient oil for making three hundred gallons of liquor. Full and comprehensive direction accompany the bottles. Price $2 per bottle.

For Sale at the corner of St. Charles and Poydras Streets, New Orleans.

One bottle of these oils, five in number, will be securely packed and shipped with bill of lading, to any part of the country, upon the receipt of $10, to the address of

P. LACOUR New Orleans.

Purchasers are requested, as a guarantee of good faith, to furnish us the name of any house in New Orleans, and we will ship them a package of the Oils. If they do not perform all that is claimed for them, they will cost nothing.

DR. J. HOSTETTER'S

Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nausea, Constipation Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, or any Billious complaints arising from a disorded machine of the Stomach or Bowels producing Cramps Spasms, Colic, Cholera Morbus, &c. &c.

All of these distressing and like maladies of Nature in affliction upon the system, and form a portion of advanced years, or recovering from sickness of any kind, nothing can be more conducive to their convalescence than the use of these Bitters as per directions on the bottles.

Scarcely four years have elapsed since the first introduction of "Dr. J Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters" to the public, and such has been the success of this article after its tested efficacy by a discerning public, that during the last year nearly half a million bottles were sold, with a confidence demand in excess of the supply with all the facilities the proprietors have been able to command in its preparation. Are you dyspeptic? Then take these Stomach Bitters.

Are you bilitous? Try one bottle of these Bitters, and be relieved at once.

Are you annoyed by indigestion or constipation? Remove the cause by the free use of these Bitters.

Have you fever and ague? How many thousands in the West and South have been cured of this constitution destroying disease by the free use of these Bitters!

All should try this great Antidote. We venture in affirm that, when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are used, a case of Fever and Ague cannot occur; therefore, no family consulting their own interest can afford to do without it.

A WORD TO THE LADIES.

In recommending to your use Dr J Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters, it is but just to state that as a stimulant to the system in imparting strength and vigor, preparatory to perilous states, which are of times attended with much pain and trouble, are of times attended with much pain and trouble, we know of no preparation more happily adapted to all afflictions consequent upon this cause, and for cramps in stomach, cholera morbus, and all ailments arising from over indulgence in fruits, vegetables, ice creams, &c., it is certain and sheerd unfailing remedy, and no family should be without it.

One wineglassful taken three times each before meals, or half the quantity if the patients are in a weak condition, and increased in proportion to their strength, will be found a great tonic agent, which all will appreciate when personally satisfied of its facts, as they will be by giving the Bitters one trial.

CAUTION.

Carefulness should be our study, but more particularly when the health is at stake. Since these Bitters have, from their medical qualities, become so popular, there have been a great many concoctions called Stomach Bitters, and often represented to be the same in virtue as Dr. Hostetter's, palmed upon the public. Be careful of these villainous compounds! Our Bitters are put up in square glass bottles, and covered with the patent metallic cap, stamped "Hostetter's Stomach Bitters," and Dr. J Hostetter blown on the glass. All others are imitation.

Living witnesses can be found in almost every village in the Union, who have certified to the good properties of these Bitters in the effluence for which they are recommended.

WHAT THEY SAY AT HOME

Mrs Jarvis, of delicate constitution, residing at No. 28 Ross street, after suffering nine years with the worst form of Dyspepsia and general debility, and spending hundreds of dollars in travelling for health and paying doctor's bills, was recommended to try them by the use of two bottles of Dr. Wright's Tonic Bitters and Invigorating Cordial. She says: "By the use of your Bitters I can now take any meals desirable, and especially can recommend them from calling on my own self testimony. I think I am cured permanently and well, and have no dread of a recurrence of the disease."

Mrs. E. H Livingston, of the Pittsburgh Novelty Works, says: "Two female members of my family have derived great benefit from the use of your Bitters. Send me two more bottles."

Mrs Kinzer, No 62 Smithfield street, an aged and infirm lady, suffering from Dyspepsia and debility, says: "Your Bitters did me more good than any medicine I ever tried."

Mr Lucien Gray, No 17 Cross Street, says "I caught a bad cold, which settled on my lungs and I became very weak and debilitated, with a distressing cough, but by the use of your Bitters I soon regained my health and strength. I would recommend them to persons suffering from weakness or debility of any kind, as I know they are good."

One dose taken before meals will create a good appetite, assist digestion, prevent costiveness, and be a sure cure for Dyspepsia.

The Cemetery Once More.

This subject, about which there was so much said and written a few week ago, appears to have lost all its interest, as is too frequently the case heretofore, and for which our people are somewhat celebrated when any new and exciting subject is introduced. This, in the present instance especially, is very much to be regretted, and it is hoped will only be temporary. Surely our citizens are no less conscious now than they were a month or two ago of the certainty of death, and the uncertainty of having a safe, quiet, and suitable resting place for themselves and friends. The present temporary burial ground, it is conceded upon all hands, must soon be abandoned; so that if there was no other desire to make a change, necessity would soon leave no alternative.

I have listened to what has been said and written on the subject of the importance of a cemetery, and with reference to the several points that have been named as suitable locations. For myself, I would have been content with any location that a majority of those who were willing to invest their means in so laudable a work would have selected; yet I could but feel that by far the most desirable place was entirely overlooked. And now, since the other places, on account of the numerous objections raised to them, are nearly if not quite abandoned, I will venture to suggest the place. It is the property lying east of the Lutheran Seminary and burying ground, and is owned by Horace B Taylor and others

The surface of this ground is undulating, which with its other advantages renders it susceptible of the highest rural embellishment. The soil is loam, clay, and sand, with gravel subsoil in places, and would, with proper attention, be very much improved by cultivation. The location is quiet and retired; there are no rail roads, rivers or canals to cross in its approach, as is the case with all the other points named, and which to many, if not to all, is an almost insurmountable objection. A small portion of the public road leading to it, during a short period in the spring and fall, has been usually muddy and otherwise bad, but by recent improvements in gravelling, &c. is now one of the finest thoroughfares in the country; if the improvements are continued for a year or two, which I understand is the intention, under the direction of the present efficient superintendent, John Burt, it will be equal to any McAdamized road to be found anywhere.

I will now leave the subject to the consideration of those who have been so zealous in this good work, confidently trusting that whilst the advantages of the grounds suggested will recommend themselves to their attention, their philanthropic efforts will secure this or some other desirable ground, as a suitable resting place for the departed dead.

Before closing however, allow me to call the attention of the readers of the Sentinel to the following excellent article just published in the "Country Gentleman," as eminently appropriate here at the present time. N.

The Planting of Rural Cemeteries.

We venture to make a few suggestions, first, in reference to planting the grounds at large, and secondly, in respect to individual lots.

It is assumed in the very title of our subject that cemeteries are to be planted. They are not to be left naked and desolate, as were most of the old fashioned burying yards exposed to beating storms and burning suns. They are to have the guardianship and companionship of trees, the grace and attraction which they lend to places which might otherwise be uninteresting if not repulsive. One may well question the antithemses of some kinds of embellishment occasionally seen in "cemeteries, but no one can doubt the appropriateness of trees. The historical argument favors such planting. In providing a burial place for himself and his descendants, Abraham desired no "only the cave" and "the field" in Machpelah, but also "all the trees that were in the field and in all the borders round about." The Israelites loved to bury their dead under the shadow of oak trees. The Jews often used their gardens for family cemeteries. The Turks bury in groves of cypress.

And if cemeteries are to be planted, how it is to be done? Is there anything in the character of the place to determine the style of our planting? Yes there is. Cemeteries should inspire feelings of solemnity, reverence and tender respect for the memory of the dead; it should remind us of our own mortality and that of our friends. In the same time, with the light of Revelation around us, our feelings should not be those of despair, but of humble resignation, of unwavering trust and cheerful hope. From these considerations, we conclude that a country should be a pleasant, cultivated scene, but one without the usual embellishments of a public park, or the highly dressed grounds of a private residence. We do not wish to inter our friends in a wild forest, nor should our planting aim to represent such a scene. The gay posterous, the surprises and other fanciful conceits of pleasure grounds, would also be out of harmony with the true spirit of a burial place. The grounds should be substantially enclosed with fences or hedges and belts of trees, to give them an air of security and seclusion; they should be intersected with roads and walks, and planted with trees and shrubs, to give them a civilized air, and a human interest; and a subdued cheerfulness, and to make them appear to be a suitable resting place and home for the dead.

In planting a cemetry, special reference should be had to economizing space for interments. Trees must not be scattered indiscriminately over the grounds, or arranged solely with an eye to their effect. They must be planted only along the outskirts of the cemetry, at the angles of the roads and the lots, and on the margins of the avenues, and in any other open spaces left for this purpose.

A cemetery should be planted with evergreens more largely than ornamental grounds commonly are. There is an inherent fitness in their use, and the practice of ages has given them a double suitableness. Of these trees there is a greater variety than is commonly supposed. Beside the ever present Balsam fir, there are seven or eight sorts of hardy pine, several of spruce, of arbor vitæ and of juniper, the red cedar Savin, hemlock and others.

A cemetery should be planted with drooping trees, to some extent. This should be done, not to give the place a dolorous aspect, but as expressive of tender recollection for the departed, and to mark the spot as distinct and set apart from other grounds. Of such trees, the very best is the native white elm. The common weeping willow is also appropriate, and should be planted wherever it is hardy. The class of trees technically called weeping trees, should be introduced in limited number. The common European weeping ash, the birch and laden, and several of the elm family are among the best

In the planting of private lots, several things should be considered:

1. The best possible emblishment is a smooth carpet of fine grass. To secure this, the ground should be trenched and manured, unless the soil is naturally deep and rich, and then sowed with pure grass seed and white clover, or sodded with clean turf from the roadside. It should also be mowed frequently during the summer.

2. Few, if any, trees should be planted in a lot, and these should be small. A cemetery lot is designed for interments, and nothing should be planted to interfere with that design. [Sometimes a half dozen maples or horse chestnuts are set in a single small lot, which must in a few years fill the ground with a net work of large roots, shade the monuments injuriously, and prevent the growth of the grass and the hedge. If trees must be planted, we should recommend one or two of medium size, like the mountain ash dog wood, Red bud Virgilea lutea, striped back maple, copper beech.

3 Some lots might be planted with one or more small weeping trees; such as the Asiatic chine, the new American weeping willow, the larch and Japan sophora.

4. Lot is not complete without evergreens; but these also should be few and small. Perhaps the greatest prevalent fault in planting cemeteries is the use of too many evergreens, and those which grow to a large size. We often see six where two would be enough. And then, those of large spreading habit are as frequently used as the smaller. Pines, Norway Spruces and Balsams, look very well when first set out, but they won't stay small; in a few years their branches completely cover the lot and its monuments, stretch far across the hedges and out into the walk and roads. The result of all this is that the trustees of the Association have to interfere, and cause these trees to be removed. Such trees are utterly unfit for lots, and should be planted only in the large, open spaces before mentioned. Among small evergreens, or those which can easily be kept small, we mention the hemlock, Siberian Arbor Vitæ, Savin, American and Swedish Junipers, American Yew, Mahonia and American holly.

5. Shrubs are a better adornment of lots than trees. Those of neat habit, of dark foliage, and which hold their leaves fresh throughout the season, are to be preferred. Among these are several varieties of the Rhododendrum especially the European and the broad leaved, the upright honeysuckles, the Deutzias, Spiræas, roses, particularly the white.

6. Flowers should not be omitted. A few dozen violets, the pyrethrum, blue and white verbenas—what can be better?

7. If a lot is to be enclosed with a hedge—and certainly this is preferable to high, stiff palisades of iron—the hemlock may be trained into a neat shape, the juniper is sometimes recommended, and the native privet answers an excellent purpose. Whatever plant is used, it should be kept low by pruning twice a year.

☞ From a private letter dated Mora, New Mexico, October 3d, 1857, we take the following extract:

Gentlemen: We have just concluded one of the most exciting elections that ever happened in this Territory, and after a severe struggle, have elected our Territorial Democratic candidate, Mr. Otero as delegate by a majority of near three thousand votes. It is very evident our Mexican population is becoming more Americanized, and already begin to feel more and more the value of a vote. Every election is more exciting and the interest shown by all classes on the return of an election day is manifestly increasing in strength. The peon or slave to indebtedness already knows that his master has no right to claim his vote, and the freedom of the ballot box has become fully established in the minds of the people. This alone is a very great victory gained. In the late canvass Mr Otero exhibited great energy in proving to these people that they are now living under a constitution which secures to them "Liberty, inalienable rights, and the pursuit of happiness."

The Gila expedition against the Southern Apaches has returned, and has done much credit to all concerned. The campaign was a difficult and an arduous one, and much honor is due to the officers and men for the faithful service they have rendered.

On account of the enmity of the Cheyennes, an escort of twenty five men accompanies the mail to the crossing of the Arkansas. A great many passengers go in. Mr Otero and wife, ex Secretary Davis and wife, Mrs Davenport, and many others

Speculators and Capitalists.—This bit will hit other latitudes than that of Paris—a "good thing" of a Parisian gamin (urchin, leafer boy.) it is lively, energetic, characteristic, and was effective.

Two gentlemen were chatting on the Boulevard. One was a great speculator, developing the plan of a magnificent project, the other a dazzled capitalist, ready to snap at the bait.—He hesitated a little, but was just yielding, merely making a few objections for conscience's sake

Near these two, paused a couple of youngsters of ten or twelve years. They were looking into a tobacco shop close by, and one cries out to the other:

"By the piper! I'd like to snatch a sou's worth of tobacco!"

"Well," said the other, "buy a sou's worth."

"Ah! as luck will have it, I haven't the sou"

"Hold on! I've got two sous."

"That's the ticket! Into the thing—one for the pipe and one for the tobacco"

"Oh, yes! But what am I to do?"

"You? Oh! you shall be the stockholder; you can spit."

It was a flash of light. The capitalist thrust his hands into his pockets and fled. The speculator cast a furious look at the two urchins and turned down the street.

Shorten Your Skirts.—Empress Eugenie has lately promulged her ankles to be seen without gathering up her skirts, and it is high time, therefore, that American women, who adopted everything Frenchy, should take a tuck in their skirts. A correspondent of the New York Post who saw the Empress at a grand review by Napoleon of his camp at Chalons, lately, says:

On the day of my visit to the camp, the Emperor, accompanied by the Empress on horseback, and a numerous staff of marshals and general officers, exercised eighteen thousand men for some hours. The presence of the Empress gave more interest to many present than the movements of the troops. After she had returned and alighted at the imperial headquarters, she reappeared amidst the shouts of the multitude, without her riding dress and I would venture to commend to our American women the shortness of her skirts, which permitted to be seen a beautiful pair of ankles—a pleasant episode in a military review.

The Empress of the Indies.—The rumor which is being propagated by the press, that Queen Victoria is about proclaiming herself "Empress of India," is a topic of considerable interest. Such an event is not at all improbable, if it be true that her Majesty is anxious to change her Royal title an Imperial dividem, and still less so when we consider the fact that the government of the East India Company, has, to a certain extent proved a failure. That law which invested the Company with power can also annul that power. In 1783, the charter of the East India Company was not removed, but an Act was passed, continuing to the Company all its possessions, revenues, and merchandize, in trust for the Crown of Great Britain and Ireland until the year 1854. In 1853, Parliament again passed an Act, continuing the possessions of the Company in trust for the Crown until Parliament shall otherwise order.

The actual bearing of this is—that, on paying £200 for every £100 of the Company's capital stock, the British Parliament can at once take from the Company to the Crown nearly the whole peninsula of Hindostan, and make British India an integral part of the British Empire.

Honduras Interoceanic Canal.—The New Herald has advices from Honduras to Oct. 7th The surveying corps of the projected Interoceanic Railroad, had reached Comayagua, a point midway between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. The survey had thus far proved satisfactory, and the party of Engineers were in good health and capital spirits.

At Omoa the authorities were warlike, and were making preparations to repel an apprehended attack from Walker's filibusters, and a British vessel of war was daily expected to arrive to aid in the defence of the town.

HOW THEY TALK IN UTAH.

A Sermon Delivered at Salt Lake City

Since the Kansas question is virtually settled the next subject of engrossing interest is Utah.

How the Mormons relish the appointment of Gov Cumming as the expedition which is to put him in power may be learned from the following extracts from a sermon delivered to the faithful, at Salt Lake City, and reported at full length in the Mormon paper.

From the Deseret News Sept. 9th

Discourse by Prest Heber C. Kimball, Hosery. Sunday Morning, Aug 30, 1857.

You must expect when you see Brother Heber stand before you to speak that you will hear what is called the rough etched to this generation.

* * * * * * *

I want to tell some of my feelings here to day in a few words relative to brother Brigham. I call him brother. I shall only call him President before the Saints, in his calling. I was going to say before our enemies, but damn them, they shall never come here.

Excuse me. I never use rough words, only when I come in contact with such rough things.

You all acknowledge brother Young as the President of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints: then you acknowledge him as our Leader, Prophet, Seer and Revelator, and then you acknowledge him in every capacity that pertains to his calling both in Church and State do you not. [Voices: "Yes."]

Well, he is our Governor What is a Governor? One who presides, or governs. Well, now we have declared in a legislative capacity that we will not have poor, rotten-hearted cusses come rule over us such as they have been accustomed to send. We drafted a memorial and the Council and the House of Representatives, endorsed it, and sent to the names of men of our choice, as many as from five to eight men for each office, men from our own midst, out of whom to appoint officers for this Territory.

We sent that number for the President of the United States to make a selection from, and asked him to give us men of our own choice, in accordance with the rights constitutionally guaranteed to American citizens.

We just told them right up and down, that if they sent any more such miserable cusses as some they had sent here, we would send them home, and that is one reason why an army or rather a mob, is on the way here as reported. You did not know the reason before, did you?

* * * * * * *

Now gentlemen and ladies, you look at these things, and then right in this book, the Bible, it says our nobles shall be of ourselves, that is, our Lords, our Governors, our Judges, our Marshalls, and our every thing shall be of ourselves. Won't you read the 30th chapter of Jeremiah?

21. And their nobles shall be of themselves, and their Governors shall proceed from the midst of them; and I will cause him to draw near, and he shall approach unto me; for who is this that engaged his heart to approach unto me? saith the Lord.

22. And ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

23. Behold, the whirlwind of the Lord goeth forth with fury, a continuing whirlwind: it shall fall with pain upon the head of the wicked.

24. The fierce anger of the Lord shall not return, until he have done it, and until he have performed the intents of his heart: in the latter day ye shall consider it.

Well, the day has come when our Governor comes out of our midst, and he is in the type of the mountains, just where the prophets said these things should come to pass, and now the United States are reported to be trying to force a Governor upon us when the Lord has raised one up right in our midst.

* * * * * * *

I will now bring up a comparison. I live in the city of Great Salt Lake. I am a father, a husband, a beneficiary to between sixty and seventy subjects: I feed them; I clothe them; and they do not have a pin, a drink of tea, or any thing, but what I provide: I provide them houses to live in, and beds to sleep on. But suppose that by and by some stranger comes along, and my family say to him, "we will have you to preside over us;" and they reject me, when at the same time they say, "Dr Heber is a good man," but the other man comes with a smiling face, and my family take him and reject me—what have they done? If they reject me, they reject their bread; and by so doing, they destroy their friendship to the head or limb to which they are lawfully connected. Is not that so?

Suppose you acknowledge the man reported to be coming, what do you do? You reject your head; and it so, where is the body, and what will become of it?

* * * * * * *

If this people should consent to dispossess Br. Brigham Young as our Governor, they are just as sure to go to hell as they live, and I know it, for God would forsake them and leave them to themselves, and they would be in worse bondage than the children of Israel ever were.

Supposing this thing all blows over and they don't come on here, but they begin to flatter as I said before you to speak that you will hear what is called the rough etched to this generation. and be fooled by what will be the result? They may flatter as long as the earth stands, but I never will be subject to one in their damned pusillanimous cusses. The may court and flatter as much as they please, but I never will be subject to them again, no, never. Do you hear it? [Voices, "Yes."] Do you think we will submit to them? No, never. They have cut the thread themselves.

* * * * * * *

I have a right to say the gentiles shall never rule over me, although this people might submit of their coming here. I have a right to say also that we small never be ruled over by them from this day forth, while grass grows or water runs, never, no, never.

[Voices, "Amen."

Well, we have got to sustain these saints and we have got to sustain these vows. You ladies, too, will certainly have to do your part or back out. I told you last Sunday to arm yourselves, and if you cannot do it in any other way, sell some of your fine bonnets, fine dresses, and buy yourselves a good dirk, a pistol, or some other instrument of war.

Arm your boys and arm yourselves universally and that, too, with the weapons of war, for we may be brought to the test, to see if we will stand up to the line.

* * * * * * *

We shall never leave these valleys—— till we get ready; no, never, no, never. We will live here till we go back to Jackson county, Missouri. I prophecy that, in the name of Israel's God.

[The congregation shouted "Amen," and Pres. B Young said, "it is true."]

If our enemies force us to destroy our orchards and our property, to destroy our log waste our houses fields and everything else, we shall never build and plant again until we do it in Jackson county. But our enemies are not here yet, and we have not yet thrown down our houses.

Let me tell you that if God designs that I and should flow become free, they will come and strike the Rock, and if he does not, they will not come. That is as true as that Book (pointing to the Bible)

☞ The Springfield (Illinois) Journal says: According to notice, the assigned sale of the Great Western Railroad was made at auction at forty seconds a bushel, as I cannot find purchasers. The Republican adds:

The same state of facts is reported of the Muscatine and other river markets; and indeed we may say of the markets

Thanksgiving.—By the Proclamation in another column it will be seen that Gov Willard has appointed Thursday, the 26th November inst. to be observed as a day of public thanksgiving in this state.

CEMETERY.—Though all are agreed that we ought to have a new cemetery, yet the interest that was felt in the matter a few weeks ago, appears to have entirely subsided, and we do not hear of any steps being now taken in the matter. We direct the attention of our citizens to a communication on the subject on our first page.

Refusal of the City Treasurer to pay Money to the Free Schools!—The question of the legality of the action of our City Council in making an appropriation towards the building of the Free School is likely soon to be settled judicially. The Council, this week, issued an order to the Treasurer to pay over $3,500 into the hands of the School Trustees. This he refused on the ground of doubts as to the legality of the appropriation, unless he could be secured by an indemnifying bond from responsible citizens. The security was tendered, but the Treasurer still refused to pay over. In the meantime Mr M Jenkinson served out an injunction, restraining the Treasurer from paying over the money to the School Trustees; and the Council made application to have the injunction removed. The case is now pending; it is a most important one, and its decision will settle the question of the power of the Council to aid the Schools by making appropriations from the general funds of the city.

However the question may be decided, we cannot approve the course of the Treasurer. He has usurped an authority that we do not believe pertains to his office, and allowed himself to be used as a tool by the enemies of our School system. The money has been collected, and would be better paid out to the laborers and mechanics engaged in the erection of the School house, and who must be subjected to inconvenience and distress by its being witheld from them, than to remain in the hands of the Treasurer. His conscientious scruples in the matter are rather late in developing themselves:—if it is not lawful for him to pay over the money for the purpose for which it was levied, it certainly was not lawful for him to collect it; but we do not learn that he raised the slightest objection to the collection, although he now holds on to the money with such tenacity.

FOREIGN NEWS.—The Arabia arrived in New York yesterday. The most important item of intelligence is the capture of Delhi by the English. It was taken by assault, after six days hard fighting. The English lose was 600 men and 50 officers. Considerable reinforcements of British troops had arrived in Calcutta. Several failures had occurred in England and on the continent, but the worst of the financial crisis is believed to be over.

The market for breadstuffs is reported dull, with a decline of 2s to 3s in flour, 4d to 6d in wheat, and 6d in corn.

New York City Election.—The result of the recent election in the city of New York is a glorious evidence of the progress of democratic principles and a triumphant endorsement of the wise and patriotic course of Mr Buchanan and his cabinet. Here is the vote:

Democratic	36,903
Black Republicans	13,812
American	8,062

Democratic majority over the Republicans over 23,000, and over both near 15,000. Last year Mr Buchanan's majority over all was but 4,000.

Maryland Election.—Complete returns from the State give Hicks, Plug Ugly, 8,567 majority over Broome, democrat—Hicks 44,764, Broome 36,197. Three democrats and three K N are elected to Congress—a democratic gain of one. The Senate contains 15K Ns and 7 democrats; House, 44K Ns and 29 democrats. Burton, democrat, is elected Judge of Court of Appeals in the 1st district.

The city of Baltimore, where Plug Ugly mob law reigns supreme, and democrats are not allowed to vote, elects two of the three K N members of Congress, and gives that party a heavier majority than they got in the whole state. If order could be maintained in that riotous city, and every man allowed to vote who is justly entitled to the right of suffrage, the vote of Maryland would be democratic.

New York Election.—The Albany Argus of Monday gives the Democratic majority as 13,135, a gain for Democrats since the Presidential election of 33,261! The Senate stands 14 Democrats, 15 Republicans, 1 Independent and 1 American. The Assembly 61 Democrats, 59 Republicans and 6 Americans.

WISCONSIN—The democratic majority for Governor in Wisconsin, is stated by the Milwaukie News to be 3000.

MINNESOTA—The St Paul Democrat claims the election of Henry H Sibley, dem. Governor, by a majority of from 300 to 400. The republicans had claimed the election of Ramsey; but by the latest and fullest returns it appears Sibley is the man. The whole democratic state ticket is elected, together with a majority in the Legislature of 3 in the Senate and 6 in the House.

Fort Wayne Western Railroad.—We are gratified in being able to state that, notwithstanding the pressure in financial matters, the work in Jasper Co on the western division of the Fort Wayne & Western Railroad, is steadily progressing. By the end of this month twelve miles of the road will be completed ready for the iron, and what is better, the estimates for the work are all regularly paid up every month.

A company that can do this, at a time when the oldest and best established railroads are embarrassed for the want of means, cannot fail of success: and we look upon the early completion of the Fort Wayne Western Railroad as a fixed fact.

Another Change has been made in the time of the Pittsburgh, Ft Wayne & Chic. R R. The trains now run as follows:

Express Train—Leaves Pittsburgh at 2:15 P M, Fort Wayne 8:35 A M; arrive at Chicago 1:50 P M. Returning, leaves Chicago at 6:00 A M, Fort Wayne 2:15 P M; arrives at Pittsburgh 6:00 A M.

Mail Train—Leaves Pittsburgh at 9:30 A M, Fort Wayne 7:50 P M; arrives at Chicago 5:30 A M. Returning, leaves Chicago at 8:45 P M, Fort Wayne 5:30 A M; arrives at Pittsburgh 3:30 P M.

Gen. Walker off for Nicaragua.—Gen Walker sailed on 5th from New Orleans on the 11th inst. with a band of 400 men, 1000 stand of arms, and a full supply of ammunition and provisions. His destination is Nicaragua.

Sorghum Molasses.—We are indebted to Mr. T M Andrews of Perry Township, for a bottle of rich thick syrup made by him from the juice of the Chinese Sugar Cane. It is of excellent quality and flavor, fully equal to the best sugar-house molasses or syrup. Mr A. feels satisfied that the cultivation of the cane and manufacture of molasses can be profitably carried on here, and purposes next year to go more extensively into the business.

He erected a mill for grinding and pressing the cane, consisting of three vertical wooden rollers, geared together, and worked by a horse attached to a sweep. With this mill he extracted 40 gallons juice per hour. The juice was boiled and clarified according to the method published in the Sentinel on the 17th of October last. Four pounds of stalks yielded 1 quart of juice, and 7 quarts of juice made 1 of thick syrup. The cane on a square rod of Mr Andrew's ground made 2 gallons of syrup.

We have strong reasons to hope, from the success which has attended the cultivation of the cane this season, that the time is not distant when Indiana will raise not only all the sugar and molasses required for home consumption, but also a considerable surplus for export.

Railroad Riot.—We hear that considerable disturbance occurred at Columbia two or three days ago, caused by a number of laborers employed on the Pitts, Ft W & Chic R R and whose wages were considerably in arrear. Their demand for payment not being complied with, they took forcible possession of the paymaster's car, and expressed a determination to hold it until their claims were paid. After some considerable difficulty, and a display of revolvers, knives, and other weapons, the rioters were finally driven off. We do not learn that any one was seriously injured in the melee.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.—A singular circumstance occurred on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne, & Chicago Railroad, on Tuesday night last. When the night train, coming west, was about 7 miles this side of Upper Sandusky, a little boy seven or eight years of age, who was with his parents on their way to the west, suddenly started up in his sleep, went out of the car, and either fell or jumped off—the train at the time being under full speed. The mother soon after awoke and missed the boy, and on inquiry a passenger informed her he had seen him go out of the car, but being nearly asleep did not pay any attention. The agonized parents gave the alarm, and the train was backed as far as Upper Sandusky, but as no trace of the boy could be found, it was supposed he was killed and thrown off the track. The parents were left at Norada to make further search, and in the course of an hour were gladdened by having their boy restored to them, alive and almost unhurt. He stated that the first thing he remembered he was laying on the track; he got up and walked towards Sandusky; when the train returned he felt alarmed and got off the track until they passed, and then resuming his walk crossed the long and dangerous railroad bridge and reached Upper Sandusky. Mr Kelly immediately dispatched a hand car with the boy to Nevada, and restored him to his parents, who were in a state bordering on distraction at his supposed melancholy fate, and whose joy at his safe return may be more easily imagined than described. The only injury he received in his perilous adventure was a slight scratch and bruise on the forehead. It was truly a miraculous escape.

☞ The repairs on the Maumee Bridge are now completed, and teams can again cross it in safety. An entire new pier has been erected under the centre of the bridge, and, unlike most similar works here, it has been done in a thorough substantial manner. The crib is made of good sound oak, well and strongly framed together by Mr. W. Barger, and will be filled to high water mark with stone—forming a structure which must endure for many years. The work was done under the vigilant superintendence of F. D. Lasselle, one of our County Commissioners, who deserves great credit for making a good and durable job.

Stores and Tanware.—Nettlehorst & Co. have on hand a large and excellent assortment of stoves of all kinds and patterns, from the best foundries in the country, which they sell at the lowest rates. They also keep on hand and make to order every thing in the tin, sheet iron, and copper line. They are prompt, liberal, and accommodating in all their dealings, and richly deserve a liberal share of public patronage.

☞ We direct the attention of our female readers to the advertisement for Le Bon Ton Journal, which is perhaps the best and only reliable journal of fashions in the country. Each number is embellished with two or more exquisitely engraved and colored fashion plates, got up in Paris, expressly for this work; two patterns cut on tissue paper accompany each number. Published by S. T. Taylor, 497 Broadway, N. York. Terms—monthly, $5 00 per annum; bi-monthly $3 00; single numbers 25 cents.

Amateur Performance.—The Fort Wayne Dramatic Amateurs, assisted by Charley Rey, Arnolds and his talented lady, will give a theatrical performance at Colerick's Hall on Tuesday evening next, on which occasion Shakspeare's celebrated tragedy of Othello will be presented. The dramatic talent of the young gentleman who takes the arduous character of Othello is highly spoken of.

Drawing School.—Mr A Sutermeister proposes opening a Drawing School in this city as soon as a sufficient number of pupils can be obtained. We are informed that he is quite an artist, and well qualified to give instructions in all branches of this useful and ornamental acquirement.

Our European Correspondence.

HEIDELBERG, on the Neckar, in Baden,
October 19, 1857.

MR. TIGAR,

Dear Sir,—I wrote you a hurried scrawl, on 24th ultimo from St Goar on the Rhine. Soon after my departure from the land of my birth the home of my youth, and the grave of that beloved parent, who early initiated into my young mind dawns of moral rectitude, self-reliance, and a faith in that God who has prospered and blessed me in a thousand ways, notwithstanding my waywardness and transgression against his laws; yes sir, Ireland is to me as it is to most of the sons of that lovely isle, ever dear. Whatever affects its inhabitants, shall while I am permitted to remain on earth, have in my heart a feeling response. I shall never forget the kind receptions I recently met there; sometimes among those, who could but ill afford it; from many who knew me in my youth, from others who knew the family of whom I am one of the descendants; yes sir, I deeply feel for the situation of many of its inhabitants. There I met the extremes of wealth and poverty. What a field is there open for the land proprietors to do good if they would. (And I confess I cannot but think it would in the end prove to their pecuniary interest), by letting their tenantry long leases, encouraging under-drainage and other improvements of the soil of which its stands so much in need, particularly in the north, and also by remaining on their estates, spending their income among that class from whose labor and toil it is raised, in place of living abroad letting other countries receive the benefit of that income which should be used at home; and on setting the poor a good example of frugality so little practiced there.—The man of wealth has a thousand ways by which he could do good to those around him and in the end be benefitted by it. A few good men do so not, which appears like an oasis in a desert, throwing around them the gratitude and esteem of all within their ald. But the instances are few.

Pardon this digression from what you expected—my observations of Belgium as I passed rapidly over it, which I promised in my last to give you. Having taken leave of my native land for ever, I cannot but give expression to some of the feelings my recent visit there created. And, while I feel confident no man is more devoted to my adopted country and its institutions than I am, nor I trust more grateful to that God who guided my youthful wandering to that favored land, I hope none will think me less worthy of that proud position, an American citizen, for feeling as I do for my native country.

We arrived at Ostend, in Belgium, on 16th Sept. at night, and presented our passport and trunks for examination; they were but slightly examined, and in an hour our baggage, at a cost of about $1 50, was sent up to our Hotel. I was up early and visited the market, which was well supplied with vegetables of all kinds, and an abundant variety of fruits, such as grapes, pears, apples, and the universal plum, which seems so much cultivated throughout Germany, and which seems to me like the dam-son, if not the same. The town is low and the streets generally very narrow. I should suppose it contain 13,000 to 14,000 inhabitants; I was told more, but this I doubted, although I was there at the time of the greatest resort. It stands on an angle between the open sea and harbor (which is a mud one) and even on the land side nearly surrounded by water, which is controlled by sluices; indeed the land around the town is very low and level. It is a very strongly fortified place, surrounded by ramparts and broad ditches, the cannon commanding every approach. To me, the sea wall, faced with stones, 10 feet high, and paved on top with hard brick, forming as it does a public promenade of half a mile, and commanding an extensive sea and beach view was a point of the most attraction. This town is a favorite watering place for the wealthy Belgians, often resorted to by their truly popular King and his family, of whom the people speak in terms of highest praise. To me their numerous bathing-houses on wheels, drawn out by horses far as to be deep enough to bathe, with the doors dry to enable you to undress and dress, and from which steps descend to the water, were very curious. I was on the wall just as the water had advanced on the strand, and saw ladies and gentlemen indulging in that luxury. Their bathing dresses, which I am informed are regulated by the police,—seem peculiarly adapted; I was however much amused to see so many intelligent and respectable looking gentlemen watching from the bathing house pavilion the agility of the ladies in dipping under the gentle surge of the tide as it approached them. There they sat, sipping their coffee or smoking their long pipes, enjoying the scene before them, and the breezes from the ocean.

Here I also saw what they call oyster-parks, reservoirs of sea water filled with oysters from the English coast, and fattened it is said, at this point for the French and German markets,—by what other process than the water of the ocean I did not learn. From the extent of these ponds (parks they are called) it must be a business of some amount.

From Ostend we took railroad to Brussels, passing a very level and highly cultivated country. The hops in many places seem extensively planted, and this year at least, very productive; but the price is so much reduced as to render that crop this season far from remunerative. On our route we passed the ancient city of Bruges, which is also connected with Ostend by canal.—We should have stopped and visited this city of ancient note, the emporium of European commerce during the middle ages. Remains of its ancient grandeur, we are told, still exist. It was long the residence of the Counts of Flanders and also of the Dukes of Burgundy. It seems now to be of little importance as a place of business. It has had its day of ascendency, and like all things earthly must have its decline. We were also unfortunate in passing Ghent without stopping,—the city of Europe during the time of Charles the 5th. The truth is, I know so little of Europe, that many places were passed by us on our route, of great historical interest, until we got to the Seat of Government of Belgium, where we remained three days. This city we were all much delighted with. It is divided into an upper and lower town; the upper town is the most beautiful, and from its high position and thorough drainage must be very healthy. It contains the King's palace, the Chambers or Parliament rooms, and principal public buildings. The lower town abounds in buildings of ancient splendor, formerly the residence of Brabant nobles, but now occupied as places of business. Here we found the French language the most generally spoken and had to get what is called a commissioner, or one who attends and speaks it) and from you to others—what we call an interpeter. The King being from home, we found some of his servants not only willing but anxious to show us the palace,—as our party was large their payment would be the more. The building was not as magnificent as we expected. It was very splendidly furnished, containing many beautiful paintings. In this building the great Napoleon planned his unfortunate Russian campaign. We visited the town hall, and churches, in which were said to be some of the best works of the ancient masters; but of this, while I speak of paintings, I want you to bear in mind I give you the opinion of others, for I have no capacity for judgment. The picture gallery in the town hall has seven works said to be by Rubens, among them the coronation of the Virgin seems the most beautiful. Here we saw the palace (now in the market space) once occupied by Maria Theresa. We also visited, within the the small church, the tomb of the accomplished and virtuous wife of Leopold, the devoted christian lady, full of charity and more than human kindness for her fellow creatures, the affectionate daughter of Louis Philippe, late King of the French. She has truly left behind her a name worthy of imitation by the Queens of the earth. The husband, who still remains a widower, is building, to her memory a most costly and beautiful chapel, to which, when completed, her mortal remains are to be removed. To the citizens of Brussels the Botanic Garden and park must be attractive, and of great benefit—open to all, rich and poor. The park is a large enclosure in the upper town, laid out in walks, shaded by magnificent trees, and ornamented with statuary. It is truly a blessing to the poor to have such a beautiful retreat,—sitting at these clear fountains, jetting the water up a considerable distance and inhaling so pure an atmosphere. We also visited the house once occupied by the Duchess of Richmond where she gave her grand dancing party to the Duke of Wellington and his officers, on the eve of the battle of Waterloo. We also visited the most extensive lace-manufactory, which interested the younger branches of our charge. The numerous places visited, however, lessened some the weight of our purse, for in this country you cannot speak to a man, asking a question, who does not expect to be paid for it. We were truly gratified with our visit to this city, which has many other attractions that I have not named, and no doubt many we did not see.

I was going to describe to you, as well as I could, my first German dinner at one of their fashionable hotels: but I must desist, as I have been too lengthy already and I fear tedious and uninteresting. The truth is, so fully am I aware of my total inaptness to write you interesting of the countries we visit, that was it not I promised you, I would decline it. As I am not one who has ever made any profession of literary attainments, I trust the few miscellaneous thoughts which I offer, will be sparingly criticised and charitably received. I may therefore continue them until I return to that spot on earth most conducive to my happiness and contentment Fort Wayne.

ALLEN HAMILTON.

The Next House of Representatives.—The next House will contain one hundred and thirty one Democrats, ninety two Black Republicans, and fourteen Know Nothings. This includes the three members from Minnesota, who will undoubtedly be promptly admitted. The last House contained but seventy six Democratic members, making a gain from the opposition of fifty five. The Democrats will have a majority of eleven over both Black Republicans and Know Nothings, if there should be no defection or secession from our ranks.

For the Sentinel

FT. WAYNE, October 30th, 1857.

Mr Editor:

At a meeting of the State Teacher's Association, at Richmond last fall, a committee was appointed to ascertain from the various important and accessible points what the people were disposed to do toward establishing normal schools in the State of Indiana.

I need scarcely say that normal schools are schools for training teachers specifically for the work of teaching. The paucity of first-rate teachers is a fact well known and deeply deplored by all persons conversant with and interested in educational affairs. We have schools for training lawyers, doctors, and ministers specially for the work they have to perform, and unless they have gone through a course of preparation in some of these institutions, or got the necessary instructions in some other way, men are disposed to regard and treat them as poorly qualified for their work: and can it be expected that teachers without any previous training beyond the mere acquisition for knowledge (and sometimes a smattering of that), can enter upon and properly and efficiently discharge the duties of one of the most important and responsible positions which any human being can occupy!

Knowledge is one and only one of the qualifications necessary to an efficient teacher; but in order to get the benefit of a normal school, the teacher who has obtained such knowledge as ordinary schools can give, must go to Ohio or Michigan, or some of the sister States, where there is more intelligence and educational spirit. Why cannot Indiana make its own teachers, and as good ones too as can be procured from any other state? Ought not Fort Wayne to have one of these normal schools, so that Allen County may reap some of the benefits? Our public school is doing its work, and doing it pretty well; but the public school cannot do everything. A very promising normal class has already been formed from the pupils of the public school, to which the Superintendent devotes extra time on Saturdays, but this can only remove the difficulty to a small extent.

Ought we to have one of these state normal schools in Fort Wayne? The city and surrounding country need it.

THE SOCIAL BAND.

Song and Chorus—composed and dedicated to the PENDAGGER CLUB of Fort Wayne, Indiana.

BY ISAAC JENKINSON, ESQ

Tune—"The Happy Man."

We worship not at Bacchus' shrine,
In revel or carousal,
Nor sing the praises I envy wine,
When be any need espoused.
For those we find debase the mind,
And lead to greater sinning;
But pure far those pleasures are,
That we are honly winning
But purer far those pleasures are
That we are honly winning.

Nor do we bow at Beauty's shrine,
With love's consuming fever,
Nor own the power, though 'tis divine,
That lies in Cupids's quiver;
For women's smile will oft beguile,
And lead the heart a sinning,
And purer joys Pendagger boys
Are daily, hourly, winning.
And purer joys, &c.

Bound fast in friendship's golden bands,
Our social hearts united,
Pendagger, true symbol stands
For every pleasure plighted,
How pure the joy, Pendagger boys,
In social circles meeting,
When every heart in counterpart
In other heart is greeting
When every heart &c.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 10.

The Tennessee, from Vera Cruz, on the 7th, has arrived. She brings over a million in specie. Her dates from Vera Cruz are to the 6th, from Mexico to the 4th. The political guarantees of the new Constitution are suspended, and Comonfort was clothed with dictatorial powers. Martial law was proclaimed in the district of Cuernabaca, in consequence of difficulties between the Spanish and Mexican citizens. Alvarez was still successful against the rebels in the South.

Later.—Yucatan and Campeachy have surrendered to the Government forces. The revolution had taken new life, and the whole people were in arms.

Gen Walker was arrested late last night on an affidavit of the Custom House officers, and was immediately admitted to bail in $2,000. It will probably not interfere with his plans.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 11.

Advices from Fort Laramie to the 22d inst., state that Col Cook's command—second dragoons were four miles this side, and had encountered a snow storm five days previously.

Col Johnson, when last heared from was 230 miles beyond Laramie. The snow was seven inches deep 100 miles this side, where the express left him.

Owing to the slim supply of corn, and entire absence of grass, the terms and dragoon horses are failing fast.

News had reached Laramie that the Mormons had burned a train of 75 wagons near Green River, 190 miles behind Col Alexander's command which constitutes that ran of General Army. It was rumored that the 5th and 10th infantry, batteries, and the artillery would take possession of the Mormon village at Bear River for winter quarters.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.

Money Matters—There is a better feeling in business and money matters are improving slowly but surely. Six of our city banks are ready to commence specie payments, and others are gradually coming into the line.

The Lodi Print Works, in New Jersey, expect to resume business next week, with from 300 to 500 hands.

The specie statement to night will show $14,000,000 specie in bank.

Four banks were thrown out today by the Metropolitan; the Western Bank of Lockport; Powell Bank, of Newburg; Chemung County Bank and Ontario County Bank of Phelps.

The business to day at the Clearing House was nearly $15,000,000 clearings, and upwards of $900,000 balances.

Our weekly bank statement shows an increase in all articles, viz: In loans, $548,481; specie, $3,605,711; circulation, $99,405; deposits, $7,421,102. The total specie is $15,492,152; deposits, $68,861,775.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.

The workingmen held more meetings to-day and a committee of the body held an interview with Mayor Wood, who advised them to meet peaceably Monday night, and to go to the Common Council, and see what they would do for them. The crew I worside, on the return of the committee, gave three cheers for Mayor Wood, and dispersed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.

The "hunger" mob are getting turbulent, and fears are entertained of an outbreak. They gathered in front of the City Hall to day, calling the Mayor a "humbug," and threatening to drag him from his office. A squad of fifty Metropolitan Police was sent for, when the crowd dispersed. At 3 o'clock the gates of the City Hall were closed and guarded, in consequence of certain threats thrown out by the mob. Assistant Treasurer Cisco has telegraphed to Washington for authority to use the government troops on Governor's Island and at the Navy Yard, if needed, to guard the United States funds in the Sub Treasury and the banks. Marshal Readers has also telegraphed to the same effect.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.

There was another gathering in Tompkins' Square this morning. Speeches were made, not, however, of an incendiary character. There were, also, about a thousand persons in the Park, but the police would allow no speech making.

There is a strong force of police inside of the City Hall, and it is said that a regiment holds itself in readiness at any outbreak, though they are no signs of one.

Both boards and the common council have acted on the Mayor's message in preference to the unemployed poor. The Aldermen resolved not to adopt the suggestions to procure large supplies of food. They, however, passed resolutions having for their object the employment of the poor. The committmen also reported that they had not the power to provide relief in the direct manner pointed out by the Mayor; they, however, passed resolutions urging on the different boards having charge of the public works to employ laborers, and also recommend the Governor of the Alms House to purchase a store of provisions in anticipation of destitution among the laboring classes.

BOSTON, Nov. 7.

Meetings of Unemployed Workingmen.—Pursuant to a call in the papers, a large meeting of mechanics, and laboring men assembled on the Common here this p.m. Several speeches were made and resolutions passed strongly urging upon the city authorities to take immediate measures to prevent from 2,000 to 3,000 people from actual starvation. Two large banners were were displayed, on which was printed the following: "We ask not alms but work, that our wives and children may not starve." "Peace and good will is our motto."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.

The Secretary of War received to day a despatch, dated Ft. Leavenworth. Intelligence had been received to the effect that the Mormons were calling into Salt Lake all their force from the surrounding country, and were organizing to resist the U. S. troops. Orders had been sent to Gen. Harney, to remain at Fort Leavenworth for the present. In case the Mormons resist our troops, another large force under the command of Harney will be immediately ordered to Utah.

The apartment has just received despatches confirmatory of previous reports that the Mormons are bent on resistance of the U. S. troops. Appointments of the army and general preparations are such that no fears are entertained for a successful.

The Administration had received no very important despatches in relation to the events in Central America or Costa Rican movements. No matter what other governments may do in regard to those affairs, ours will pursue an independent American policy without entangling alliances.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.

Orders were issued to day for the immediate concentration of the Marine Corps stationed at Boston, Philadelphia and Washington, to protect the Sub-Treasury properly at New York, from rioters. If necessary, all the available army will also be ordered for the same duty. Col. Harris commanding the Marine Corps at Brooklyn, who was here on special duty, went to New York to night under orders to report to Gen. Scott forthwith.

Mr. Mason has forwarded to the State Department his resignation of the French mission, to take effect in January.

It is rumored that Frassari is to be received as Minister from Nicaragua to morrow. The statement is discredited, though possible true. Much misapprehension exists in regard to the view of the Administration on the Tehuantepec question.

Mexico has offered to extend, for a large pecuniary consideration the rights which the United States acquired under the Gadsden Treaty. Connected with that subject the correspondence will be transmitted to Congress.

The Frauds in Kansas—By Whom Perpetrated.—The Leavenworth City correspondent of the Cincinnati Times says, the pages returns from the Oxford precinct, were made up of names in one hand writing, and that the slip of paper measured fifty four feet a length. All the names except one hundred and twenty, were copied from "Williams's Cincinnati Directory." It is now believed that the fraud was perpetrated by the "free state" people themselves, for effect, and with a view of charging it upon their opponents, there by involving them in difficulty.

Election Outrage.—At St Paul, Min., on election day, an armed band of black republican Indians took possession of the polls of one the wards, and, with revolvers and knives, drove off, and kept from voting some two or three hundred legal voters.

General Walker.—This evening's Post states, on good authority, that Gen. Walker will sail this week from New Orleans for Nicaragua, with 1,500 troops in a fine steamer, with plenty of ammunition and provisions. Colonel Duncan, of the U. S. Army, goes out to command the artillery.

Disastrous Floods in the East.—The telegraph brings accounts of disastrous floods throughout the State of New York. The Erie and Central Railroads were submerged and much damage done. We give the following items:

At Elmira on the 10th, the river was very high, and still rising. The water ran over the New York and Erie Railroad bridges and it is feared the bridge will give way every moment. The track at Corning is washed away and no trains can pass that place. Corning is nearly under water, and some buildings have gone down the river.

At Rochester great damage has been done and further up the Genessee valley. At Dansville, eight dams and six bridges were swept away on the night of the 9th.

The river is very high and still rising. Numerous culverts, on the New York Central Railroad between Rochester and Syracuse, have been washed away.

The track is inundated in many places, and no trains can pass.

At Williamsport, Penn., the Susquehanna has risen ten feet, and is still rising.

Two bad breaks have occurred on the New York canal, near Palmyra and Newark. It will require five days to repair the damage.

Baltimore Congressman Elect.—The States, a Democratic paper at Washington, thinks that Congress will not permit the newly elected Baltimore Congressmen to take their seats. It says:

"There was no election in Baltimore, and the appearance of two members, Messrs. Davis and Brooks, before Congress, will, we imagine, rather inform the mob of that city, that holding the ballot-box with one hand, and shouting off a revolver with the other, to intimidate, kill, and keep off a large portion of the citizens, is not the form of election which is regarded as legal and constitutional. In view of the facts there can scarcely be a doubt of the rejection of Messrs. Davis and Brooks by Congress. Such a constitutional act will worthily commence the session of a Democratic Congress. Thus, at least, may some of the results of rowdyism be checked."

Michigan Southern and Northern Indiana Railroad.—We were informed this morning, by the President of this Company, that the contract between them and the Michigan Central Company, alluded to as in progress of negotiation, in the recent report of their Executive Committee, had been consummated; and that he estimated this contract, together with other measures of administrative improvement in the affairs of the Company inaugurated by the new Board, as equivalent to a net gain, on a business equal that of the current year, of at least five hundred thousand dollars.

The new board have entered upon their duties with a business purpose to make the institution useful to the stockholders: and that many of them were strangers to each other, they have pursued their object with that unanimity and practical good sense that promises all that can be done to bring the company out of its present embarrassments. They have frankly called on the stockholders to render the aid they need in this emergency—and if properly responded to, this important institution promises to be highly beneficial to its owners, as well as eminently useful to the public.—N. Y. Post.

We understand that Mr. John M. Forbes, of Boston, who went to England to negotiate the proposed new loan for the Michigan Central Railroad, has been enabled to raise £100,000 for that purpose. In the present condition of the money market this must be considered as a great success, and is a proof of the continued confidence of English capitalists in this road.—

Now is the Time to Seek Relief from the Evils of Bank Paper.—The evils of the Banking system are being learnt in the hearts of men at the present by personal sufferings. There is scarcely a family in the land that does not feel the blow struck at all the sources of industry and prosperity, by this breaking down of the paper currency system. Now, therefore, is the time to look for some infallible means to insure exemption from like revulsions in the future. There need be no measures adopted to reach the desired end. Paper money can be gradually withdrawn from circulation, and gold and silver substituted. This was done when the small notes were banished from our State. Then, as now, the weak and timid advocates of a paper currency pro-claimed the doctrine that there was not gold and silver coin sufficient to fill the channels of trade in our State. But what was the result? Simultaneously with the disappearance of paper, gold and silver came forth in abundance to meet all the wants of legitimate trade. And so it would be if the banks were restricted in their issues to notes of twenty dollars, or even fifty. The absence of paper currency is the sure herald of the appearance of the precious metals.—Pennsylvanian.

Death of Crawford, the Sculptor.—The American Sculptor, Crawford, reports of whose hopeless condition from a cancer in the eye, have excited painful interest in this country for months past, died on the 10th inst., in London. He was a man of fine genius and character.

PROCLAMATION.

The custom which has long prevailed, of the people of the State assembling annually, to return their thanks to Almighty God for his watchful care over the welfare of our prosperous Commonwealth, is one which commends itself to the enlightened judgment of all men. We have more than ordinary occasion to be grateful, for the abundant harvest, preserved health, and continued peace which have been vouchsafed to us during the present year. I therefore appoint Thursday, the 26th day of November, 1857, as a day of Thanksgiving and Prayer, and invite all good citizens to abstain from their secular pursuits on that day, return their thanks for the favors received, and unitedly invoke the blessings of God for the future, upon our beloved State and Nation.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto [L.S.] set my hand, and caused to be affixed the Seal of the State of Indiana, this, the 10th day of November, A D. 1857; the 42d year of the State, and of the Independence of the United States, the eighty second. By the Governor, ☞ Advanced years often compel us to feel the necessity of a resort to some artificial means, by which to rally and foster temporary strength and bring to our impaired faculties, which is more effectually done by the use of Hostetter's celebrated Stomach Bitters, than by any other means. One wine glass full as per directions on the bottle, three times in a day, in the smaller quantities, if the person is weak in body, will convince the most credulous of its restorative effects, to which thousands can testify who used it for years, and under no circumstance could it be prescribed to do without it. Unlike, as it is, many fancy articles of the day, it has stood the test of time, and has received the unqualified approval of the most eminent physicians in the United States. For sale by druggists generally.

To Nervous Sufferers.

He will send (free) the prescription used. Direct to Rev. JOHN M DAGNALL, No. 186 Fulton street, Brooklyn, New York. 3m 15

Every one (single ladies in particular or Grace's Pills should not be taken, unless they experience decided proof, that they are not in a pregnant condition, for no medicine whatever can produce abortion, but it will relieve the monthly sufferings, and therefore can be taken at any time; they are also a sure preventive against being threatened with fits, as many other remedies are apt to do.

The peculiar feature of these Pills is the safety with which they have upon the most delicate constitution, whether old or young, infirmity, (which is not transient or injurious, but highly beneficial and tending to increase the power of locomotion to an eminent degree), and does not, in any manner clash with their certainty in removing obstructions, &c., in the monthly periods that their curative properties and produces all the relief in four hours.

PILES! PILES! PILES!!

THIS hitherto intractable disease, of every form and in every stage,

CURED BY EXTERNAL APPLICATION ONLY

Dr. Cavanaugh's PILE SALVE

WILL never fail in giving immediate relief, and positively curing the worst and most obstinate cases of Hemorrhoids or Piles. It is the here or elsewhere for the Piles, and the result of years of patient study and investigation.

ONLY INFALLIBLE REMEDY KNOWN

Sufferers from Piles now have a remedy at hand which will

Stand the Test of Trial,

without the fear of failure on its part to do all the proprietor claims for it,

Full directions accompanying each box; and all that is required is strictly to observe them, and a cure is certain to follow.

The proprietor refers to the following testimonials from gentlemen of character and standing who have voluntarily given their certificates in its favor in regard to its efficacy in their own cases. Read them

The following is from one of the most reliable citizens of Chicago, the late Treasurer of Cook County Illinois:

Chicago, July 25, 1855.

Dr. Cavanaugh:—Dear Sir,—I wish hereby to make known to the afflicted that I have been troubled with the Piles for twenty years and upwards, and at times most severely. And during a recent and exceedingly painful attack a friend procured a box of your Salve, and asked me to give it a trial. I did so, not however with the expectation of benefiting my disease, for truly, I had tried so many applications and had found none in all. But in making use of your Salve, I soon found that it was doing me good; and really it is incredible to myself, that with only about two weeks' use of your Salve, I am so far as I can judge a well man.

I most carefully make this statement, believing it due both to yourself and such as may be afflicted with this most painful and trying disease. I do not hesitate to say that I consider your preparation an invaluable remedy for the Piles.

Most sincerely yours, N. N. HEALD.

The Hon. Richard Yates, late member of Congress from the Springfield, Ill., district, says:

Jacksonville, Ill., Nov. 15, 1855.

Dr. Thos. H. Cavanaugh:—Dear Sir,—The preparation, Cavanaugh's Pile Salve, which you furnished, I found at great service, producing in many cases a speedy cure. I feel I believe so recommend it as an invaluable remedy for the Piles.

Respectfully, RICHARD YATES.

been for you and your wife's provident char'ty. I was received from every door as an imposter, and could get neither food or rest. To be an exile from one's native land ten years and then after escaping from the perils of the ocean to die through want in the streets of a Christian city, I felt was a little too

"My name is Arthur Willet," added the stranger.

"Why, that is my wife's family name! She will be pleased at her agency in your recovery."

Of what state is she a native?" asked Arthur Willet eagerly.

"I married her in the town of B——, where she was born."

At this moment Mrs. Maywood entered the room, surprised at the long absence of her husband.

Arthur Willet gazed at her with a look of wild surprise unmeaning.

"It cannot be—it cannot be, I am delirious to think so."

Mrs. Maywood gazed with little less astonishment.

"What painful mystery is this?" cried she to Mr. Maywood, excitedly, addressing his wife who then became conscious of the singularity of her conduct.

"Oh, no mystery, she replied, sighing deeply, only this stranger is the image of my long lost brother, Arthur!" And Mrs. Maywood overcome with emotion, turned to leave the room.

"Stay one moment!" pleaded the stranger, drawing a small ring from his finger, and holding it up asked if she recognized that relic.

"It is my father's—my God! and you are——?"

"Sister, Arthur Willet, and your brother."

Mary Willet Maywood fell upon the mendicant's breast, weeping tears of sweetest joy and thanksgiving.

Doctor Maywood retired from the room and left sister and brother alone in that sacred hour of recognition, saying to himself:

"He not forgetful to entertain strangers, for thereby some have entertained angles unawares."

Horrible Massacre of Emigrants—Over One Hundred Persons Killed.

J. Ward Christian writes to the Los Angeleas Star as follows:

SAN BERNARDINO, Sunday, Oct 4, 1857.

I take this opportunity of informing you of the murder of an entire train of emigrants, on their way from Missouri and Arkansas to this State, at Great Salt Lake City, which took place, according to the best information I can possibly acquire, (which is, primarily, through Indians,) at the mountain Meadows, which are at or near the rim of the Great Basin, and some distance south of the most southern Mormon settlements, between the 10th and 12th ult. It is absolutely one of the most horrible massacres I have ever had the painful necessity of relating.

The company consisted of one hundred and thirty or one hundred and thirty five men, women and children, and including some forty or forty five capable of bearing arms. They were in possession of quite an amount of stock, consisting of horses, mules, and oxen. The encampment was attacked about daylight in the morning, so say the Indians, by the combined forces of all the various tribes immediately in that section of the country. It appears that the majority of them were shain at the first onset made by the Indians.

The remaining force forced themselves into the best position their circumstances would allow; but before they could make the necessary arrangements for protecting themselves from the arrows, there were but few left who were able to bear arms.

After having corralled their wagons and dug a ditch for their protection, they continued to fire upon the Indians for one or two days; but the Indians had so secreted themselves that, according to their own statement, there was not one of them killed, and but few wounded. They (the emigrants) then sent out a flag of truce, borne by a little girl, and gave themselves up to the mercy of the savages, who immediately rushed in and slaughtered all of them, with the exception of fifteen infant children that have since been purchased, with some difficulty, by the Mormon interpreters.

I presume it would be unnecessary for all practical purposes to relate the causes which gave rise to the above described catastrophe, from the simple fact that it will be attributed to the Mormon people, let the circumstances of the case be what they may.

It seems, from a statement which I received from Elders Wm M'Mahon and Will Hyde, who were in Great Salt Lake City at the time this train was there, recruiting their "ill out," and were on the road to this place at the time when they were murdered, but several days' journey in the rear—somewhere about the Beaver Mountains, which is between Parawan and Fillmore city—that the cause were something like those: The train camped at Corn Creek, near Fillmore City, where there is an Indian village, the inhabitants of which have raised a crop of wheat and a few melons, &c. And in trading with the Indians they gave them cash for wheat, and they, not knowing the value of coin, were severely cheated. They wanted a blanket for a sack of wheat, but they gave them fifty cents, and told them that amount would buy a blanket.

They also had an ox with them which had died, and they put strychnine in him, for the purpose of poisoning the Indians; also put poison of some description in the water, which is standing in holes. This occasioned several deaths among them within a few days after the departure of the train. And upon this, it seems, the Indians gathered themselves together, and had no doubt chosen the place of attack, and arranged everything before the train arrived at the place where they were murdered.

It was ascertained from some of the interpreters, from a few of the Indians who were left at Cave Creek, that most of the Indians in the country had left; but they could not learn for what purpose, and before any steps could be taken to ascertain for certain what was the cause, the story was told—they were all killed.

Yours, truly,
J. WARD CHRISTIAN.

Resurrectionists—The people of Chicago have been astonished by the discovery that their City Sexton, has been engaged in robbing the graves of their dead. Suspicions having been excited that such a work was going on, a private police was employed to detect the depredators. After some nights of patient watching, they discovered a wagon with three men in it. The night being intensely dark, they succeeded in arresting but one of the men, who proved to be Martin Quinlan, the City Sexton. In the wagon were two corpses stowed into canvass bags, similar to those used for carrying newspapers by mail. One of the refugees was afterwards apprehended and proved to be a medical student.

A Fast Farm.—The St. Paul Advertiser says at the present time there is not less than $600,000 of overdue and protested paper deposited by Eastern creditors in the banks of that city: that the indebtedness in St. Paul to banks alone due or to become due in the next six months, is $250 000 more: while the eastern indebtedness of the merchants and others to matters in the same period is $1,200,000. That is the city owes $2,500,000, of which $1,300,000 is due to the East. Other towns in the Territory are similarly involved.

Fire in the Chimney.—In cases of fire in the chimney, it is an excellent plan to put salt on the fire in the grate below, as it acts chemically on the flames and slime. This has been found to extinguish the fire in a short time, and deserves to be more generally known.

☞ The Albany, N. Y. Atlas and Argus states that eleven ably conducted newspapers of that State, that suspended Decmber last fall, are now busily working for the restoration of the Democracy to power.

☞ The Postmaster General has recently decided, that if the Postmasters do not give publishers of newspapers notice when their papers remain in the Postoffice without being taken out by the subscribers within five weeks, they are liable for the pay.

☞ During the three months ending 30th Sept. last, there arrived at Liverpool from the United States 2,769 returned emigrants.

"Good morning, Jones. How does the world use you?" "It uses me its thank you."

Quit Drinking Poisonous Liquors.

PATENT IMPROVED PROCESS

FOR MAKING ALL KINDS OF

Liquors and Vinegar,

INSTANTLY, by the use of

LACOUR'S ESSENTIAL OILS.

THESE OILS are obtained by Distillation at the Chemical Laboratory, Parish of Jefferson, of Pierre Lacour, author of Lacour's Chemical Analyste, Lacour's Chemical Manipulations, Lacour on the Manufacture of Liquors, &c.

Purchasers are particularly requested to return the flasks and obtain their money, if the Oil does not give perfect satisfaction.

LACOUR'S OIL OF COGNAC converts neutral spirits or superior imitation of Imported Brandies, viz: Otard, Seignac, Marett Cognac, Poullroy, Seignette, Dupuy Vineyard Prociences, Castillon and Landon Dock Brandies. These Liquors will be found to be of the finest flavor and beautiful pebble color. Common Rectified Whiskey will be changed by the use of the Oil of Cognac to New York Brandy Pure Apple Brandy, Common Cognac Brandy, &c.

LACOUR'S OIL OF RYE converts Rectified Whiskey to 10 monopoly Rye Whisky, 10 of Virginia Mash Rye, 10 of Supreme Whisky &c.

OIL OF CORAT changes common Rectified Whiskey to Old Irish Malt Whisky, and a superior article of Scotch Whisky.

OIL OF PEACH changes common Whisky to Virginia Peach Brandy, &c. Oil of Peach and Oil of Cognac will convert common Whisky to Apple Brandy.

OIL OF GIN converts the poorest Whisky to Holland Gin, Schiedam Schnapps, Rose Gin, Sloe Gin, London Gin, &c.

LACOUR'S CONCENTRATED ACID will in five minutes after being mixed, change five gallons of good Vinegar and twenty five gallons of water to three gallons of the most acid Vinegar that can be found in the market. By the use of Lacour's Concentrated Acid, Vinegar can be made for one dollar per barrel.

FOR MAKING LIQUORS, Lacour's Oils require no preparation—simply pour the Oil into the Whisky and shake well. The Liquors thus made will have a fine natural aroma, a full rich colour, a beautiful transparency, and will possess in every respect the finest distinct properties in converting common Whisky to Brandy, Gin, &c. The first property combines with and subsists in the bouquet, the second partial to the whole of the grain out of every hundred parts. The Whisky is thus deprived of its coarse and irritating and burning nature, and from the present grain, the second property combines in an agreeable manner with the Liquor, which renders it mellow and imparts an appearance of great age; the third property is exhibited in the rich vinous ruby color that is imparted to the Liquor, which possesses distinction from the genuine brands impossible.

The scales are put up in quart flasks; each flask contains sufficient oil for making three hundred gallons of liquor. Full and comprehensive directions accompany the bottles. Price $2 per bottle.

For Sale at the corner of St. Charles and Poydras Streets, New Orleans.

One bottle of these oils, five in number, will be securely packed and shipped with bill of lading, to any part of the country, upon the receipt of $10, to the address of

P. LACOUR, New Orleans.

LACOUR'S CONCENTRATED ACID for making VINEGAR is put up in 2 gallons packages, at $5 per package, on general shipping order.
